Johnson Pledges Aid For Rural Americans

W. Virginia Tour Begins Big Weekend

DALLASTOWN, Pa. (AP)

Tens of thousands crowded this small rural town Saturday to hear President Johnson pledge government help to improve life in rural America to stem migration to overcrowded big cities.

Johnson, said to be the first president ever to visit here, came to help the town celebrate its 100th birthday.

Earlier, at a dam dedication ceremony at Summersville, W. Va., Johnson predicted disaster for the world unless it meets mounting needs for pure water.

Dallastown's chief of police, Earl F. Taylor, estimated 65,000 people turned out to greet Johnson and his wife as they drove into town from the Harrisburg-York Airport.

Still traveling under a non-political label, Johnson had warm words here for Pennsylvania's Republican governor, William W. Scranton. He puts his country before his party," Johnson said.

Two Democratic governors, Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Charles L. Terry Jr. of Delaware, also greeted Johnson at the Harrisburg-York Airport and rode with him in the 31-mile motorcade to Dallastown.

Mayor Laverne K. Orwig of Dallastown, who served as master of ceremonies, said it was "the biggest thing that ever hit Dallastown, and put Dallastown on the map permanently."

While Johnson spoke, some 30 peace pickets were present, but they agreed to stay 250 feet away from the platform from which Johnson spoke in order to avoid any incidents.

In contrast many in the crowd greeting him at the Harrisburg-York Airport carried signs supporting U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Rep. N. Neiman Craley Jr., a

Democratic first-term, drew the role of introducing Johnson. This was obviously designed to give him a political boost. His opponent in November is former Rep. George Goodling, a Republican whom he defeated two years ago.

While the crowd at Dallastown was the largest of the day by far, Johnson drew sizable crowds at all of his stops Saturday.

These included some 6,000 to 8,000 at the Charleston, W. Va., airport from where Johnson flew to Summersville for the dam dedication; about 3,000 at the Harrisburg-York Airport.

The President and Mrs. Johnson got a heap of handshaking everywhere they went.

At Summersville, they got hung up twice in his hand-over-hand shaking routine. Once his left hand got caught in a camera strap. Another time a partisan pinned his left hand against a metal fence post. Johnson apparently was not injured.

Johnson reached the nearest thing to a partisan note at the Charleston Airport.

He reviewed various steps taken in the last six years to improve West Virginia's economy and said:

"We are doing what a Democratic president, a Democratic government, ought to do for a Democratic people."

From the airport, Johnson flew to Summersville, W. Va., 69 miles away to participate in the dedication of a dam on the Gauley River. In his dedicatory speech Johnson said that by the year 2000 the water needs of the world will be several times what they are today.

"It should be clear by now that we are in a race with disaster," Johnson continued, "either the world water need must be met, or we will face mass epidemic and mass poverty greater than anything we know today."

"If we fail, I can assure you that not even America's unprecedented military might will be able to preserve the peace for long."

He announced the United States will sponsor an international conference on water for peace in Washington next May.

In a speech later in the day at Dallastown, which is celebrating its 100th birthday, Johnson said the nation's welfare demands more help for farming and rural communities.

If the present trend of urban growth continues, Johnson said, by 1985 as many people will be crowded in the cities as occupied the entire nation in 1960.

"Must we export our youth to the cities faster than we export our crops and our livestock to the crops?"

"I believe we can change this trend."

"To begin, we must set a higher goal than parity for farm prices. We want to achieve full parity for rural America."

"Today, a rural worker earns less for his day's work than a city worker with similar skills. That is one reason you have a labor shortage here in your own county."

"Today, a high school or college graduate sees a better future for himself in a major city. That is why too many of your sons and daughters move to Philadelphia or New York."

"The same story is being repeated all over America. 'But it doesn't have to continue and modern technology and modern transportation can bring jobs to the countryside rather than people to the cities, and that modern government can help."

He said he wants to see more factory workers able to supplement their incomes by parttime farming and more farmers working part time in industry.

TREELESS TREE HOUSE is actually a two-story house and must come down because it violates zoning rules, Fort Worth, Tex., officials have informed a group of boys. The boys wanted a tree house and because trees weren't available at the back yard site. Trouble developed when a neighbor complained that it invaded her privacy. Fear Increased VC Violence

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Official sources said Saturday gradually increasing voter interest in South Viet Nam's Sept. 11 election may prompt more violent Communist reprisals soon.

Although there have been scattered acts of Viet Cong terrorism obviously aimed at impeding the voting, the Communists have lately been implementing their anti-election campaign with threats and propaganda.

However, reliable informants said captured documents indicate the Reds have a program worked out with bombings, assassinations and similar acts as the final phase.

U.S. officials have drawn up orders to keep American men on full alert three days prior to and during the voting. It is expected these orders will be issued next Friday.

The government announced that qualified voters total 5,288,512. They will be filling 108 seats of a 17-seat Assembly which will write a new constitution. Councils of mountain tribes will appoint nine assemblymen. With most candidates voicing staunchly anti-Communist policies, the main interest was centered on voter turnout rather than issues.

The United States is hoping that 75 per cent will cast ballots in this step toward a return to civilian rule. Such an outpouring would surprise a lot of people. But there are definite signs of increasing interest. In Hue in the north an election rally drew about 4,000. Similar reports have come in from the central highlands around Pleiku.

In Saigon crowds have been much thinner, but qualified analysts profess to sense a sharp rise in coffee shop and private electioneering.

Nations Seeking Binding Oil Ban On Rhodesia

LONDON (AP)—A majority of the nations in the British Commonwealth have agreed to press for a binding oil ban on white-ruled Rhodesia by making it compulsory for all U.N. members through a Security Council resolution, authoritative informants said Saturday.

Britain, however, is reported to prefer a quietly negotiated compromise with Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia that would give four million Rhodesian blacks a chance eventually to take power from the nation's 225,000 whites.

The issue could lead to a breakup of the 23-nation Commonwealth which opens a 10-day conference here Tuesday. The Commonwealth joins to gether 70 million people around the globe.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson is reported by aides determined not to be stampeded into any action he judges too harsh.

Rhodesia declared its independence from Britain last Nov. 11, a move the British branded as rebellious. Neighboring African states demanded that Wilson send troops to put down Smith's white government and install one controlled by blacks.

Wilson resisted and instead called for economic sanctions, including an oil embargo. The (Turn To Page 13)

Land In Indiana

Canadian Convicts Hijack Airplane

GARY, Ind. (AP) — A

Canadian jailbreaker barricaded himself in a downtown jewelry store Saturday night and held police at bay with a machine gun. He was believed wounded.

Two fellow fugitives surrendered 30 minutes earlier following a gun battle at the hotel Baltimore. A third was believed seriously wounded in the exchange of fire at the jewelry store. He was hospitalized.

Heavily armed police roped off a square block in the business district and tossed tear gas grenades into the jewelry shop, block from the hotel.

The four men flew to Indiana on a stolen plane and were forced to land in a farm field near Wheeler, southeast of here.

They came to the northern Indiana factory town by bus.

Canadian authorities described the four as a big time robbery suspect, an insane killer, an alleged rapist and a thief.

Mrs. Ross Shook, 70, on whose farm their plane landed, said the four men came to the house and were polite and friendly.

"They chatted with us more than an hour and watched my husband milk the cows and do the chores," she said.

Shook, 69, said he was happy to help the four when they asked him to drive them to Hobart, where they intended to catch a bus for Gary.

Police were alerted of their presence in Gary by a bartender who heard about the plane landing through a radio report.

When officers arrived, the four fled to the hotel next door and dashed to a second story room. They exchanged fire with police for half an hour.

Two surrendered. The others fled down a fire escape and broke into the jewelry store.

They stole the plane in Winnipeg earlier Saturday in a brazen aerial dash to freedom.

Wheeler, where they were reported forced down, is about 40 miles southeast of Chicago.

Earlier the plane had erroneously been reported sighted over Montana.

The fugitives forced a young Stonewall, Man., district couple — Ross MacKenzie, 20, and Heather Jackson, 17 — to accompany them on a ride that led first to Selkirk, Man., and then south of Steinbach, where the Mooney Mark 21 aircraft was taken.

Abe Loewen of Steinbach, owner of the plane, said it carried a half-tank of gasoline, sufficient for a trip of better than 300 miles.

Mansbridge said the hostages identified their captors as the fugitives from the Headingley Provincial Jail who broke away with six others, since recaptured, in a well-planned escape Thursday night. They include Kenneth Leishman, 34, a proficient pilot credited with masterminding the jailbreak.

Leishman turned from a successful business career to bank robbery. He faces trial on theft and conspiracy charges in the theft of $383,000 in gold bullion from Winnipeg Airport March 1.

Also sought were Barry Kay Duke, 21, held indefinitely after acquittal on a noncapital murder charge by reason of insanity; Joseph William Dale, 25, facing a rape charge; and George Wayne Leclerc, 26, of Montreal, accused of false pretenses.

The stolen 5-year-old plane was seen heading toward the United States about an hour after its theft occurred.

Police said Leishman knows the stolen plane.

the northern United States area, dotted with private landing strips, almost as well as he knows southern Manitoba.

Three of the original 10 fugitives were captured, with a 17-year-old hostage, after their car crashed while being pursued by a policeman Friday. Two others were picked up at a hotel in Langdon, S.D., a little later. A sixth surrendered to Winnipeg police Friday night.

Two Democratic governors, Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Charles L. Terry Jr. of Delaware, also greeted Johnson at the Harrisburg-York Airport and rode with him in the 31-mile motorcade to Dallastown.

If the present trend of urban growth continues, Johnson said, by 1985 as many people will be crowded in the cities as occupied the entire nation in 1960.

"Must we export our youth to the cities faster than we export our crops and our livestock to the crops?"

"I believe we can change this trend."

"To begin, we must set a higher goal than parity for farm prices. We want to achieve full parity for rural America."

"Today, a rural worker earns less for his day's work than a city worker with similar skills. That is one reason you have a labor shortage here in your own county."

"Today, a high school or college graduate sees a better future for himself in a major city. That is why too many of your sons and daughters move to Philadelphia or New York."

"The same story is being repeated all over America. 'But it doesn't have to continue and modern technology and modern transportation can bring jobs to the countryside rather than people to the cities, and that modern government can help."

He said he wants to see more factory workers able to supplement their incomes by parttime farming and more farmers working part time in industry.

PUBLIC AUCTION OF 80 ACRE FARM

The undersigned owners and heirs at law of Lora E. Brainer, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder, at the South Door of the Court House, in Jacksonville, Illinois, on the following described real estate, to-wit:

at 11:00 o'clock A.M.

The West Half of the South East Quarter of Section 7, In Township 15 North and Range 9 West of the Third Principal Meridian, in Morgan County, Illinois, containing eighty (80) acres, more or less, subject, however, to all existing public highways and public utility easements.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: The above described real estate is an eighty (80) acre farm with approximately sixty-eight (68) acres tillable and is located six (6) miles East of Jacksonville on a good oiled road. Improvements include electricity and a 9-room residence.

TERMS OF SALE: Possession will be given on or before March 1, 1967, and the growing crops are reserved by the Sellers. Purchaser is to pay twenty (20%) percent of the purchase price at the time of sale, cash in hand, and the balance upon tender by the Sellers of a good and sufficient Warranty Deed, and upon approval of the title or title insurance policy by the purchaser. Sellers will furnish an Abstract of Title showing a good and indefeasible title in themselves or, at their option, a title insurance policy in customary form for not less than the sale price. The Buyer is to pay when due the 1966 taxes, payable in 1967, but will be given an allowance against the purchase price equivalent to the taxes paid in 1966.

For further information or inspection of the premises contact the undersigned attorneys or auctioneer.

The first Mother's Day service was held in St. Andrews Methodist Church, Grafton, W. Va., May 10, 1966. Miss Anna M. Jarvis arranged a special program in memory of her mother, Mrs. Anna Reeves Jarvis.

CALIFORNIA GUESTS IN GREENE HOME

WHITE HALL—Mr. and Mrs. Toby N. Crossman and family of San Bernardino, Calif. have been here for a visit with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Donald Crossman. They were en route to Rochester, New York, following which the family will reside in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Clark and daughter Terry, have returned from a vacation trip to Fort Belvoir, Va. with his brother, CM Sgt. Gerald Clark, and their son-in-law and daughter, Private and Mrs. Noel Friley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ornellas of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Harp of Manchester left during the week end for a trip to Detroit, Mich. and Canadian points.

Richard H. Crossman, SA, son of Rev. and Mrs. Donald Crossman is serving with the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Mansfield. He is attached to the 7th Fleet, Pacific Area, and for the next two years, his homeport will be Yokosuka, Japan. Crossman is a graduate of the North Greene High school class of 1965.

Don Heberling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Heberling of this city, has received a fellowship and will work toward his master's degree in art at the University of Arizona.

Lt. Col. Jack L. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson and children, who have been here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Anderson, returned to their home in Lompoc, Calif.

Lloyd Lee Hayes, of Hawthorne, Calif. is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hearschel Hayes.

As many as 245 earthquakes have been reported in one week in Guatemala.

AT CHEERLEADING CLINIC
WHITE HALL — Miss Janis Chumley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chumley attended a baton twirling and cheerleading clinic, held at Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Ill. recently. She completed beginning and intermediate lessons in twirling and strutting and served as assistant to Mary Evelyn Thurman, internationally known clinic director.

Miss Chumley has been asked to accompany Miss Thurman next summer and teach beginning and advanced twirling and cheerleading. She is a junior at North Greene High school, has been in the band six years and cheerleader for four years, serving as Majorette in the high school marching band.

CLAIM'S BASIS
The Germans based their right to bomb the Lusitania on their claim that she was carrying munitions and may have been armed.

ASHLAND HIGH HAS ALL TIME TOP ENROLLMENT

ASHLAND — The Ashland schools opened last week with an enrollment of 559. High school enrollment is an all-time high of 165, and the grade school has 394. Following is a breakdown by grades:

Kindergarten, 36; first grade, 48; second, 45; third, 47; fourth, 41; fifth, 46; sixth, 43; seventh, 45; eighth, 43; ninth, 53; tenth, 33; eleventh, 33; and the twelfth, 30.

The Ashland FFA chapter received eight blue ribbons and 16 red ribbons at the Illinois State Fair.

Seven of the members of the chapter were represented as follows: Tom Johnson had five head of swine; Ronnie Hull, three head of swine; Don and Wayne Bloomfield, three dairy animals apiece; Dale Taylor, two heifers and one production cow; Randy Thornley, two steers and one heifer, and David Cline with two steers.

Evergreens predominate in Ashland. They keep their leaves all the year around but lose their bark in winter.

500-Millionth Indian To Be Born This Month

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—One day this month, perhaps in a primitive village lacking either doctor or nurse, an Indian woman will give birth to the country's 500-millionth citizen.

Census officials decline to compute the exact time. They acknowledge that India will pass the half-billion mark in September, but there will be no official recognition of the milestone.

After all, when you have 499,999,999 people, what's one more?

India has more people than the combined total of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Brazil, England, France, West Germany, the Soviet Union, Australia and Japan.

It is surpassed only by Communist China, which has an estimated 750 million people.

The impact of population pressure has a grim, personal meaning here.

If conditions continue as they are, citizen No. 500 million will face dismal prospects for his life on the subcontinent, among them:

One chance in four of learning to read or write.

A life expectancy of 45 years—less if the baby is a girl—compared with 70 in the United States.

An average income of $42 per year, or 13 cents per day. He will spend eight out of every 10 rupees on food alone.

One chance in 140 of ever owning a radio; one chance in 1,000 of owning a telephone; and one chance in 3,000 of buying a newspaper.

One thing the baby can almost bet on is that he will get married. Only one out of every 12,500 Indians stays single. What's more, they marry young—often in their early teens—and have lots of children.

He can also count on a lifetime filled with illness and disease, because of an insufficient and poorly balanced diet and because of contaminated water and insanitary surroundings.

With massive assistance from abroad, India is making progress toward eradicating disease and increasing the food available. Ironically, this progress lies behind India's skyrocketing population.

Epidemics used to kill millions of people. In 1918 an estimated 13 million Indians died of influenza and the country lost population between 1911 and 1921 censuses. But today, malaria has been conquered, smallpox is being wiped out and other diseases are in retreat.

Droughts used to ruin crops periodically and result in millions of starvation deaths. This type of tragedy was repeated as recently as 1943, but when famine threatened this year the United States shipped millions of tons of grain to India.

These advances have helped double India's population since

Pepys Almost Scooped On Tremendous Fire

AP Special Report
By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Three hundred years ago September 2 reporter Samuel Pepys all but got scooped on one of the greatest fires of history.

He was saved by his cook. At 2 a.m., Sept. 2, 1666, Pepys' cook, Jane, woke him to tell him about a fire she could see from her window.

The 33-year-old Pepys blinked his eyes and — but let the great reporter relate his near goof of the 17th century.

"So I rose," he recorded in his famous diary, "and went to her window. But I thought it far off, and so went to bed again, and to sleep."

While the diarist — whose detailed and colorful reporting is still read today — slept on, the great fire of London raged like a herd of flame-belching dragons less than 600 yards from his house.

Pepys' house was on Seething Lane, midway between the Tower of London and Pudding Lane. The fire started in Thomas Farriner's baking shop on Pudding Lane, about 300 yards north of London Bridge.

An east wind was whipping in from the North Sea and it was a whopping big fire when Samuel Pepys finally rolled out of his four-poster at midmorning.

He still ignored the fire, however.

"So to my closet," wrote Pepys in his diary, "to set things to rights after yesterday's cleaning."

The flames were sweeping through the narrow streets of London Town, hopping from one wooden building to another, when Jane once more summoned Pepys.

"By and by," said Pepys, "Jane comes and tells me that above 300 houses have been burned down tonight by the fire we saw, and that it is now burning down all Fish Street."

This second tipoff from the kitchen launched the diarist into action.

His account is a moving and compassionate report of the great fire.

"So down to the waterside, and there got a boat, and through bridge, and there saw a lamentable fire. Everybody endeavoring to remove their goods, and flinging into the river. Poor people staying in their houses as long as till the very fire touched them. And among other things, the poor pigeons, I perceive, were loath to leave their houses, but hovered about the windows and balconies till they burned their wings, and fell down."

It was Pepys who finally brought a message to the Lord Mayor of London from King Charles ordering that houses in the path of the flames be torn down to stop the fire.

"What can I do?" shouted the excited lord mayor. "I am spent. People will not obey me. I have been pulling down the houses, but the fire overtakes us faster than we can do it."

At last the king himself turned up — with a fire-fighting water bucket — to direct operations.

Leslie Leete, the chief officer of London's 100-year-old fire brigade has made a study of the great fire.

"The great problem was lack of organization. It wasn't until King Charles went down with his personal bodyguard and blew up the properties that the fire was checked," Leete says.

"The lord mayor and the others spent all their time arguing whose property should be blown up."

It took four days to put out the fire.

The flames consumed St. Paul's Cathedral, and the Royal Exchange, center of the city's business life.

Four-fifths of London lay in ruins.

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months. Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government. STILL RUNS — LOS ANGELES — Two Illinois youths, Charles Harter, 21 (left) and Ladd Pagan, give their beat-up 1931 model "A" Ford a "transfusion" of water after a 7,613-mile trip from Illinois to Los Angeles — via Fairbanks, Alaska. They bought the car for $30 five years ago and still use the original engine, although they admit making extensive and frequent repairs during the trip. On the Alcan highway they stopped to fight seven carburetor fires. The pair plans to continue to La Paz, the tip of Baja California, before returning to studies at the University of Illinois. Funny Scarecrow Does Boomingly Good Job

MILLINGTON, N.J. (AP) — A funny-looking scarecrow that goes boom every 15 minutes of the day and night does a pretty good job scaring birds and deer — but people, they're another story.

Residents of this town have had about enough of a two-foot-long cannon used by farmer Philip Bardy to chase wild life from his fields.

"The dogs bark all night," one said, "the children cry and some people lie awake waiting for the damn thing to go boom — just like waiting for the other shoe to drop."

And go boom it does. The cannon is timed to boom automatically every 15 minutes.

In the daytime, the cannon is located near a cornfield to scare away blackbirds. At night, it's moved to a tomato and melon patch to frighten herds of deer that had fed there regularly until April 15 — the day it was installed.

The Passaic Township Committee has issued Bardy a warning to "cease the operation of your noise-making device" but he has ignored it so far.

The farmer says he was given permission by the New Jersey Division of Wild Fish and Game to use the cannon after an inspector visited his field, shook his head and said, "You've got problems."

Bardy told of experiments in the past with strawman scarecrows, noisemakers that clap together and strings of flapping multicolored flags. He said none worked.

Then he hit on the cannon. The cannon is operated with carbonated water and minerals which build up pressure and fire off the device periodically.

Ladies Golf At Jacksonville Country Club

Ladies Day at the Jacksonville Country Club wound up the season with one of the favorite golf events, a nine hole Best Ball 3-some. The event was followed by a delicious luncheon at one o'clock, at which time all the winning awards from two tournaments and various special events and Ladies Day winners since the last luncheon, were awarded.

The winners of the last day's event were:

First: Sally Harris, Jane Ellis and Emma Grant.

Second: Mary Ellen Glisson, Lucille Herrin and Irma Carbone.

Third: Betty Dawdy, Dixie Hall, and Dolores Dix.

Three ties for Fourth place: Micky Goodrich, June Huss, Margaret Bellatti, Betty Brown, Gracia Coultas, Louise Douglass, Mae Muelled, Bobbe Lukeman, Jean Newman.

After the luncheon, the chairman, Betty Brown, summarized the season's events and explained the rules for Lady on ten scores turned in.

Helen Little was awarded the silver prize for winning the 18 hole IWGA event. Vivian Casler was awarded the silver prize for winning the 9 hole IWGA event. (Vivian's name was regrettably omitted from the list of winners under the recent Tournament pictures in the paper).

The Ringers committee announced that Leona Bailis was winner in the 18 hole class with Handicap Tournament winners 75 for the season. Jonnie McNaughton and Vivian Casler were the winners in the 9 hole class.

Nicki Murphy was awarded first prize for having lowered her handicap the most, based on ten scores turned in.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for the coming year which was accepted as presented: Chairman-Blanche Rueck; co-chairman-Betty Dyer; treasurer-Louise Douglass; secretary-Naydene Massey; rules-Lillian Bunch; special events-Fran Chumley; handicaps-Helen Little; pairings-Gracia Coultas; ringers-Ruth Jean Cline.

All members have expressed their gratitude for a fine golf season and an ever-improving 18 hole golf course for our club.

ASHLAND WOMAN'S CLUB TO OPEN SEASON TUESDAY

ASHLAND — The Ashland Woman's Club will hold its first meeting Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 2:00 p.m. in the library club rooms. This will be guest day.

The program will consist of a one act play, "Under Your Hat" depicting the formation and some of the early highlights of the Ashland club. The music, also of the early days, will be sung by a trio composed of Mrs. Sinclair Savage, Mrs. E. L. Beedles and Mrs. Sid Campbell.

Mrs. O. R. Robertson of Winchester, district president, will also be present.

There will be no board meeting preceding the meeting.

Everyone is urged to attend and win a new hat, given by the Ways and Means committee.

The social committee for the social hour is: Mrs. Maurice Plattner and Mrs. Carl Orne, co-chairman; Mrs. Walter Adkins, Mrs. Vance White, Mrs. E. J. Mau, Mrs. Fred Jokisch, Mrs. D. L. Clarke and Miss Julia Hewitt.

Minnie Fleming, Former Bluffs Resident, Dies

BLUFFS — Mrs. Minnie Fleming of Wichita, Kansas, 96, former resident of the Bluffs community, died suddenly Friday at her home following a heart attack.

Mrs. Fleming was born near Bluffs April 9, 1870, the daughter of Mahlon V. and Elizabeth Moore. Mr. Fleming preceded his wife in death in 1930.

Three sons survive, Oak and Raymond Fleming of Wichita and Wayne, a resident of Nebraska. There are two grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Ollie Beavers of Bluffs, and 19 nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at the Downing Funeral Home in Wichita with interment to be made there.

HOUSEWIVES SAY CRICKET ACTIVITY MEANS HARD WINTER

JERSEYVILLE — The coming winter will be a rough one, according to a number of Jersey county housewives.

They base their forecast on the fact that various insects have started the past ten days to select places for hibernation during the coming winter. Crickets and a variety of spiders are the most noticeable, one housewife reported. They have been entering basements, in numbers and then seeking places of hiding upstairs. "They want a secure place from the coming winter," one housewife stated. "I've watched this situation for years."

IDEAL BAKERY CALENDARS HERE

Boy Scout calendars issued the first of the year by Ideal Baking Company, through an error in printing, carried through only up to September. The balance of the 1966 year and full 1967 calendar is included in the just received supplement which is being delivered to those holding the original issues of the 1966 printing.

The new calendar highlights the Boy Scout World Jamboree to be held next year in Idaho.

Many Will Sleep Forever

'Sleeping Sickness' Hits Texas, Far East

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — By the dozens and hundreds, people are falling ill in Texas and the Far East from sudden explosions of so-called "sleeping sickness," and for many the sleep is forever. This "sleeping sickness" is, more precisely, known as encephalitis. The cause is a virus which can produce inflammation and destructive changes in the brain and spinal cord — or no real symptoms at all. Epidemics, such as are occurring now, are unusual in the United States. The virus striking in Texas is a form known as St. Louis encephalitis, where it was first observed some years ago. The virus responsible in Korea and Japan is, presumably, a close relative known as Japanese B encephalitis. Two other related forms that sometimes also strike individuals or in epidemic proportions are Eastern equine and Western equine encephalitis. There are mysteries still about these viruses. Birds are apparently the main reservoir of St. Louis encephalitis virus. Mosquitoes of the Culex family are the carriers, transferring the virus from infected birds to humans, and to other animals. Some species of birds die from the virus, while others are not sickened at all, medical texts explain.

Most humans infected by mosquito bites never show any signs of illness, or have generalized symptoms, including fever. But once in a while, encephalitis bursts forth in epidemic form. Health officials in Texas blame the current outbreak partly upon heavy recent rains that favored the breeding of mosquitoes, and in a counterattack have been spraying an insecticide from airplanes and trucks. Past epidemics of encephalitis in this country have taken up to a score of lives at a time.

Despite the name "equine" for two forms of the virus, humans do not contract the disease from infected horses, says Today's Health Guide, published by the American Medical Association. Vaccines are available to protect horses and mules, but similar vaccines are not generally recommended for humans, it adds.

Mild infections, or those that go unnoticed, presumably give people immunity against the virus. Epidemics may occur because people have not been exposed much in the past, and the virus may hit harder at times, says one physician familiar with the disease.

The virus infection can bring on high fever, convulsions and generalized rigidity, headaches, muscle pains and stomach upsets, and coma and delirium more severe stages. The Eastern equine form of disease is usually more severe and fulminating or rapid than other varieties, says the Merck Manual, an authoritative medical book for physicians. And as yet, it adds, there is no specific drug to help victims.

AF Specialist

David R. Cherry

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Airman David R. Cherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cherry Jr. of Winchester, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., as an Air Force accounting and finance specialist.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force. Airman Cherry was graduated from Winchester High School in 1964 and attended Illinois College at Jacksonville.

Indian Leaders Among Fire Worshipers Group

By JOE MCGOWAN Jr.
BOMBAY, India (AP) — Descendants of a small, close-knit band of fire worshipers who sought refuge in India 1,200 years ago, include some of India's leading businessmen, politicians and civic workers.

They are members of the Parsi sect, believed to number about 115,000 throughout the world, with the major body of at least 75,000 in Bombay.

Their forefathers migrated to India from Persia in the year 706 A.D., following the conquest of their country by Moslems.

Parsis—also spelled Parsees—are followers of Zoroaster, founder of the original Persian religion. They believe in afterlife and the ultimate victory of good over evil. Their temples, house sacred perpetual flames, kept alive with offerings of aromatic sandalwood.

Prominent among present-day Parsis are the Tatas, who started India's first textile mill and now are national leaders in textiles, steel, nuclear research and scores of other fields. An air service started as a Tata subsidiary later became Air India, the country's international airline.

Other Parsis include M. R. Masani, prominent member of Parliament, and K.R.P. Shroff, who retired this year as president of the Bombay Stock Exchange.

Geroze Gandhi, late husband of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, was a Parsi; and Parsi Dhadabai Nadroji was the first Indian member of the British Parliament. To the outsiders, the Parsis are perhaps best known for their "Tower of Silence," an imposing mountaintop structure in Bombay where the Parsi dead are taken. Aside from its beautifully landscaped gardens and iron gates which keep out non-believers, the tower is distinguished by an ever-present flock of vultures soaring overhead.

The tower has walls 18 feet tall surrounding a circular concrete platform 300 feet in circumference and with a deep opening in the center. The platform has three rows for bodies, the outer one for men, middle for women and center for children.

After the vultures strip the flesh and the bones disintegrate, rainfall washes the dust into the center shaft and then into four underground drains leading to four deep wells. Charcoal and sandstone in the drains purify the water before it reaches the wells.

"In the old days, a body was taken to the highest hill and left to be 'burned' by the sun," says Rustom K. Masani, noted Parsi author, in explaining how the Tower of Silence fits in with the Parsi fire worship.

Masani emphasizes the living aspects of the Parsi religion. In fact, he says "I call our religion the religion of 'good life'." "We have no penance, no fasting, we are concerned only with building our character. Most of the charitable institutions in Bombay were founded by Parsis."

RE-ENTRY VEHICLE for future astronauts returning to earth from space could resemble this model rotor craft now undergoing wind-tunnel tests at NASA's Ames Research Center, Mountain View, Calif. It's designed to enter the atmosphere with partially extended rotor blades, angled back, to slow it down from the high speed of orbital flight. Once in the atmosphere, the craft would extend rotors fully, as shown on the model, for descent to earth much as a conventional helicopter makes an unpowered landing.

Your family's silent partner

Lying there on the doorstep, it can't speak. Or Move. Or Hear. But open it in your hands and it becomes a living, powerful partner in daily living. In the decisions you make, the opinions you form.

It takes you to the highest chambers of government. It takes you to the bloodiest streets of warring countries. It takes you to the heart of history in the making. In short, it tells you what in the world is happening and why.

But people depend on it for needs beyond the need to know. It's where families turn when something's to be bought or sold. It's where hints on health, cooking, religion, amusements, dressmaking, etiquette, marriage are found.

It's where charities first turn for help, and a place where a letter to the editor is published. It's where campaigns are fought and lost dogs are found. It's where criminals are exposed and newlyweds applauded. Where birth and death meet on the same page.

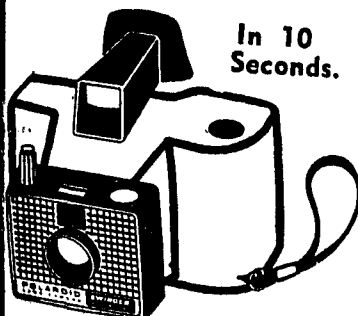

It's your newspaper, silent partner of the family, yet one that says so much, does so much for so many people — every day without fail.

New Generation of Imperials for 1967

The 1967 Imperial, completely new in styling, body construction and chassis engineering, is viewed with approval by Lynn A. Townsend, right, president of Chrysler Corporation, and Robert Anderson, general manager of the Chrysler-Plymouth Division. Imperials for 1967 continue to be big cars—nearly 19 feet long and weighing more than 5,000 pounds—with improved interior dimensions contributing to superior riding comfort. Front and rear seats are higher, over-all height increased, front head room and leg room improved, front wheels more widely spaced and new equipment options added to the line. The body is of unitized construction, resulting in a stronger, more durable structure. Addition of a new four-door sedan increases the number of models to five in this new generation of Imperial cars. The 440-cubic inch V-8 engine is improved in performance and quietness of operation. Pictured above is the elegant Imperial LeBaron four-door hardtop for 1967.

Web Worms Invading Trees

JERSEYVILLE — A late summer infestation of web worms has appeared in many parts of Jersey county, and the type of web worm in evidence now seems to be selecting hickory and other nut trees for its web producing activities.

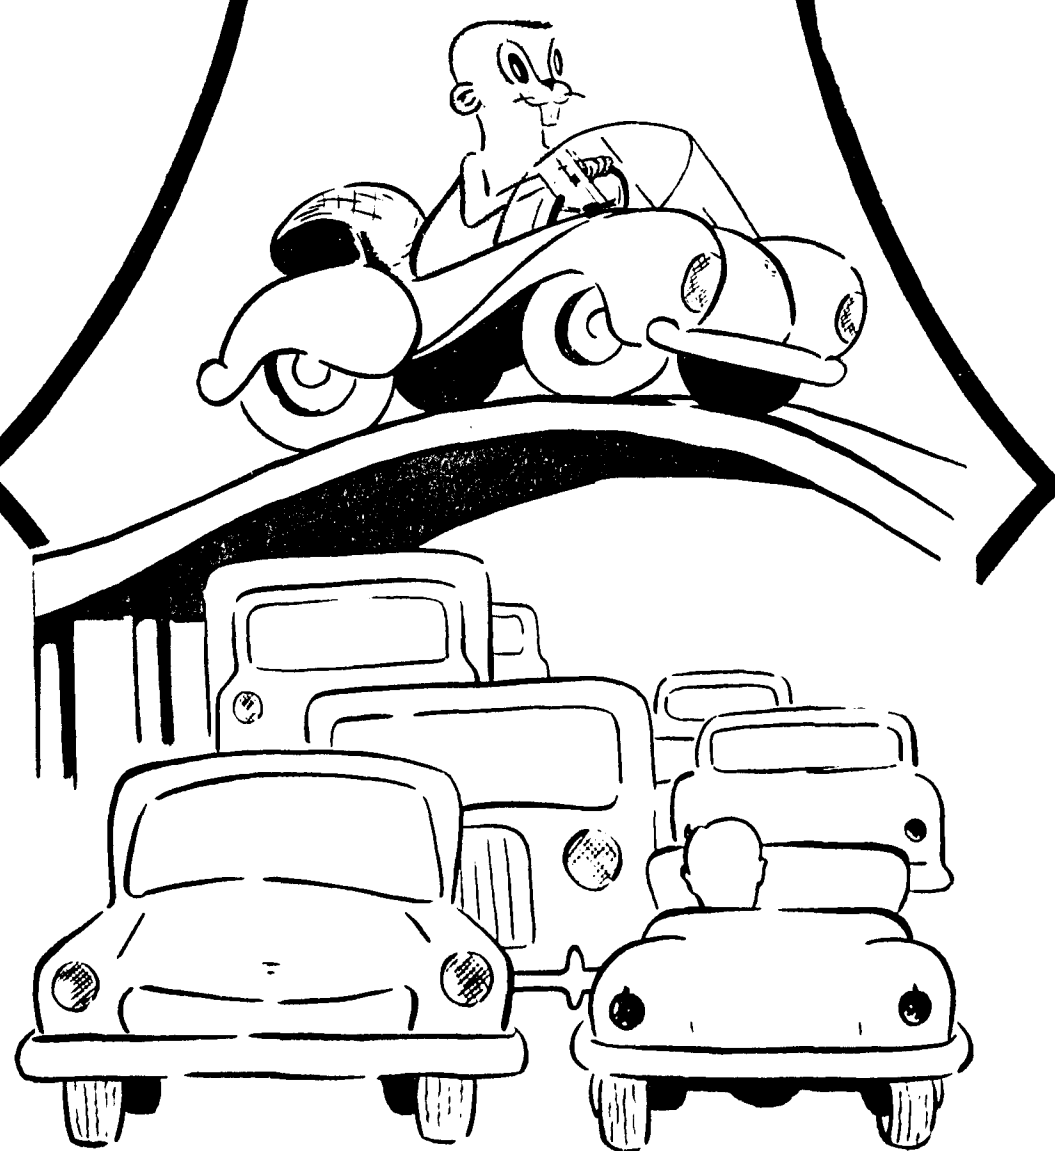

There was a limited infestation of shade and fruit trees during the spring months. Mulberry and similar trees were the ones showing the greatest number of webs and the walnuts, hickories and oaks were comparatively free of the infestation.

Heretofore the web worms have usually appeared in greatest numbers during the spring months with limited appearances during the hot summer and early autumn.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—The butcher hog supply last week was little changed from the previous week but prices were under pressure most of the time.

Not until midweek did the market make a significant turn from a downward trend of about 10 days. On Friday, a few offerings topped at $25.50, off 25 cents from the week's best but 40 cents better than the top paid on Wednesday. They closed mostly 50 cents lower.

The week's best price of $25.75 was under the best price on any day the previous week which went to $27.50. Average price to the week was estimated at $24.90, lowest since early July. It compared with $26.20 last week and $23.69 a year ago.

After a little weakness early in the week because of increased supplies, the market for slaughter steers firmed and closed 25 to 50 cents higher for the period. The average price of $26.15 was the highest since May. It compared with $25.95 last week and $27.06 a year ago.

Spring slaughter lambs were 50 cents to $1 lower.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sank, soared and stumbled in a period of financial uncertainties last week.

The performance contrasted with the previous week when the market tumbled to one of the biggest losses of the year.

One analyst, Charles McGrick of E.F. Hutton & Co., a major Wall Street brokerage house, said the week's action was "more encouraging than anything we've seen in recent months."

Another firm, Bache & Co., said the outlook for an advance in the near future "has been considerably enhanced."

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed the week at 787.69, down 7.13 points. The previous week, the averages had closed down 24.06 points at 780.56.

The market on Monday took one of its worst losses of the year with glamor stocks and electronics being hard hit.

But on Tuesday it began a rally that stretched through Thursday. On Wednesday, the Dow Jones averages were up 15.20 points, one of the greatest rallies of the year. The Wednesday average closed down 12.69 at 788.41.

Blue chip stocks, the favorite of the conservative investor, showed strongly during the rally. Interest in the blue chips had waned during the seven-month slide of the market when attention was focused on the glamor issues.

But Friday, pre-Labor day selling struck the market and glamor issues as well as blue chips faded. Investors sold to reap the profits of the three-day rally. Trading was moderate.

Stock market volume for the week was 43,127,710 shares, up from the previous week's 40,501,854. The week's volume was the largest since the week ended May 7 when 48 million shares changed hands.

Of the 38 government bonds, only one recorded a net weekly loss. All other showed gains of .1 to 2.12 points.

Atlanta Sweeps Two More From Astros, 12-2, 6-4

ATLANTA (AP)—Atlanta overtook Houston with five earned runs in the third inning and beat the Astros 6-4 in the second game to sweep their doubleheader Saturday night.

The Braves pounded the Astros 12-2 in the opener.

An error by Gene Freese opened the gates in the big third, and Felipe Alou doubled in one run, Joe Torre and Mike de la Hoz each singled in one, an error by Joe Morgan let in another and the fifth scored on a wild pitch. The Astros started the inning with a 2-0 lead.

The victory went to starter Ken Johnson, 11-8. Mike Cuellar, 10-7, took the loss.

Eighteen-year-old rookie Charlie Vaughan, making his first major league start, scattered 10 hits for the first game victory. He got home run support from Dennis Menke, Mack Jones, Rico Carly and Eddie Matthews. Menke and Jones each hit theirs with two on.

The Braves collected 16 hits in the opener and added nine more in the nightcap.

The sweep ran Atlanta's victory streak over Houston to 11 games.

Home run — Houston, Davis (2).

Dayton

During the rioting Thursday, one man was killed, more than a score were injured and more than 100 persons were arrested.

The damage from rock-throwing bands of young Negroes who smashed store windows and looted still has not been estimated.

The man killed was Lester Mitchell, 40. He was shot in front of his home by a shotgun blast fired at him from a passing car.

Two white men have been arrested for questioning in the shooting.

Sporadic window-smashing and looting started within minutes after the shooting and continued through the day and night. Many people said "We didn't think it could happen in Dayton," and there was conflict over the reasons for the disturbance.

The "We didn't think it could happen in Dayton" statements stem from the fact this heavily industrialized city of 270,000 with about 70,000 Negroes has been relatively free of such trouble.

Mayor Dave Hall also says Dayton has only about a 2 per cent rate of unemployment and that industries are seeking workers.

The city is having trouble keeping its police cadet school filled.

The West Side of Dayton is a mixed district. It includes some expensive Negro homes, some in the middle class, and part of it is a slum area.

"Establish a domestic good neighbor policy in every block in every city."

"Provide greater economic balance to assure that every working American is freed from poverty and shielded from the threat of inflation."

"Provide even more recreational facilities so that all may enjoy to the fullest their leisure time."

"Social and economic justice is the basic goal of the Great Society," Johnson said. "Working people and their organizations are leaders in the pursuit of this national goal."

"Once, the free trade union movement channeled its efforts toward giving individual workers strength in their struggle with the privileged few."

SOME COMMODITIES MAKE BROAD GAINS IN WEEKLY TRADE

CHICAGO (AP)—The weakness which had characterized the grain futures trade for several days came to a halt last week and some commodities mustered a fairly broad recovery, although others still finished with small net losses.

Wheat, the best gainer, moved up almost 5 cents a bushel in spots and in those it recovered all the declines of last week. Other grains and soybeans, though, met stiffer resistance and net changes generally were small.

The broadest swinger, as usual, was September soybeans, which long has attracted the most active speculative trade because of the belief the harvest will be late and the remainder of the 1965 crop will be virtually at the vanishing point.

Near the end of the week, traders worked more toward balancing commitments all around for the holiday week and against the first September crop report to be issued on Tuesday.

At the end of the week, wheat was 234-47 cents a bushel higher than a week ago, September $1.89-89 1/4; corn 3/4 to 3 cents higher, September $1.45 1/2 - 46; oats 1/4-3/4 lower, September $1.26 1/2; soybeans 1 1/4 lower, September 73 1/4 cents; rye 1 1/4 lower to 1 1/2 higher, September $1.26 1/2; soybeans 1 1/4 lower to 1 cent higher, September $3.37 1/2 - 1/4.

Percy Rejects De Gaulle's Viet Settlement Plan
CHICAGO (AP)—Charles H. Percy, Republican candidate for U.S. senator, took exception Saturday with President Charles de Gaulle's suggestion that U.S. troops be withdrawn from South Vietnam to make way for peace.

In a prepared statement, Percy said:

"There can be no withdrawal of American forces until a fair settlement has been reached at the conference table. Withdrawal now, before peace talks have even begun, would seriously weaken the bargaining position of South Viet Nam and the other free nations of Southeast Asia."

Percy said the French president would be acting "more constructively and responsibly" if he endorsed an Asian peace conference arranged by Asian nations.

The Illinois Republican said efforts to arrange such a conference are moving ahead. He added that six nations already have agreed to take part in a preliminary meeting to work out details for a conference.

Percy identified them as Thailand, Malaysia, the Philippines, Indonesia, South Korea and Japan.

De Gaulle said Thursday in Cambodia that U.S. forces should be withdrawn from South Vietnam to make peace talks possible.

Percy said he has admired De Gaulle for a long time but that he deplores the president's actions in recent years "which have gravely damaged traditional Franco-American solidarity."

SOLDIER DROWNS AT BACHELOR PARTY
LA PORTE, Ind. (AP) — Pic. James H. Smith, 19, home on leave from Viet Nam, was to be married Saturday evening.

He drowned early Saturday morning at a bachelor party on nearby Fish Lake.

Capt. Rodger Nickell of La Porte County police said he was told the soldier's friends had joked about throwing him into the lake. Nickell said he had been unable to learn whether Smith jumped into the water or was pushed.

Oil Ban

oil embargo went into effect in January and Wilson predicted the downfall of the Smith regime within weeks.

Wilson acknowledged that the embargo has failed largely because Rhodesia has been aided by South Africa and Portugal — the latter through its African colony, Mozambique.

Now Wilson's aim is to negotiate.

But almost to a man the chiefs of the Commonwealth's 17 African, Asian and Caribbean members consider Wilson's approach as out of tune with the collective principles of their partnership. They have banded together to confront Wilson with the demand that the oil embargo be made compulsory for all U.N. members.

This would give Portugal and South Africa the choice of obeying the U.N. resolution or defying the world body.

African and Asian members of the Commonwealth also are suggesting that an approach to the Security Council should be coupled with massive diplomatic pressure on South Africa and Portugal to respect the oil ban. These two countries would be left in no doubt that a refusal to comply would expose them to oil sanctions also.

Miss America Pageant Opens Monday Night
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Miss America Pageant, oldest and most prestigious of the nation's beauty contests, begins a six-day run Monday to choose Miss America of 1967.

The new queen will be crowned Saturday night before 20,000 persons in Convention Hall and a nationwide television audience.

The girl who succeeds Deborah Irene Bryant of Kansas will be assured of $80,000 in personal appearance bookings during her year-long reign and a $10,000 college scholarship.

The new queen will be one of 70,000 young women who entered 3,500 local and state contests leading up to this week in Atlantic City.

In addition to a pretty face and a shapely figure, she will have to display talent, charm, poise and intelligence to win.

The first day of the pageant the girls register, received hotel assignments and preliminary instructions and pose for pictures, all in street clothes.

Tuesday night there's the festival of floats on the boardwalk. Preliminaries begin Wednesday night with competition in evening gown, swim suit and talent divisions before 11 judges, headed by actor Vincent Price.

Saturday night 10 girls become semifinalists, and are eliminated one-by-one until the new Miss America is chosen.

GOYA, CORREGIO PAINTINGS STOLEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Paintings worth almost $200,000, including a Goya and a Corregio valued at $100,000 each, were stolen from the Brooklyn apartment of an art store owner Saturday, police said.

Police said two men, posing as delivery men, forced their way into the fourth floor apartment of Luigi Sciarino.

Sciarino, who runs a Brooklyn art and antique shop, was not home. Police said the robbers threatened his wife and 16-year-old daughter with a gun.

Along with the Goya and the Corregio, police said, the robbers took a Guido Reni worth $4,000, a Sappho di Cancy worth $25,000 and jewelry worth $3,000.

Republicans Eye Interest Rate As Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have zeroed in on high interest rates as a top campaign issue this fall but whether tight money can be turned into GOP votes still is an open question.

Democrats plan to rely on the prosperity theme struck by President Johnson in recent speeches to combat criticism of high interest rates but some party members think the GOP has latched onto a good talking point.

"If we lose 50 or 60 (House) seats in November," one disgruntled Democrat said, "you can blame the economic situation."

Other Democrats see no particular problem, however, at least on the surface.

"The real trouble would come," one said, "if we lost some of the prosperity and still had high interest rates and other high costs."

Another put it more bluntly: "Who in hell knows what John Q. Public is going to do on election day."

The GOP, however, already has embarked on its program by sending all Republican candidates for the House and Senate a tip sheet on interest rates, complete with instructions from House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan on how to use the material.

The Democratic party already is widely split over what to do about high interest, even to the extent of a verbal confrontation last week between the party's present and past leaders.

When former President Harry S. Truman said these rates could lead the country into a depression, President Johnson replied he is concerned but disagrees with Truman's conclusion.

Pressure for some move by the administration seemed to build to a peak last week and one top government source said there is a reasonably good possibility that the administration will recommend suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit to help reduce inflationary pressures.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee, introduced such a measure on Tuesday, contending business expansion is a culprit in raising interest rates.

The White House remained silent and Long concedes his bill has scant chance unless Johnson endorses it.

'SEWER PHANTOM' MAY FIND HOME AT BOYS TOWN
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The unwanted little boy who won the name "phantom of the sewers" found Saturday he is wanted and may have a home soon.

Boys Town, the famous haven for homeless boys at Omaha, Neb., notified Juvenile Court authorities here Saturday that it is interested in the youngster, who gained attention for his habit of hiding out in the city's storm sewers.

The prospects are bright for him," said probation officer Frank McCroskey. "I think he can make it."

The 14-year-old youngster lives with an aged grandmother who struggles to support her family, but he has lived mostly by his own devices while roaming the sewers for the past two years.

McCroskey said the boy lived from the proceeds of petty thefts pulled in the neighborhood of his sewer hideaway, where police were unable to track him.

"This will be a real break for him," McCroskey said. "This boy needs constant supervision for a long period of time and there is just no facility for that here. I'm a probation officer but I have 75 kids."

into the camp 250 miles north-east of Saigon. But elements of the division's 12th Cavalry reported contact was broken after five minutes and the enemy faded into the night. Units of the 5th Cavalry set out early Sunday to track down the enemy, the spokesman said.

There was no estimate of enemy casualties.

A U.S. spokesman said, "It looks like a patrol moved in, fired and moved out again."

Near Saigon, two terrorists on a motorbike tossed a grenade at a Gia Dinh youth center Sunday and wounded a policeman before escaping.

Elsewhere U.S. 7th Fleet gunners took up some of the slack in allied offensive operations as Communist troops generally remained elusive and bad weather limited air strikes.

A spokesman announced seven American vessels fired more than 1,100 five-inch shells and about 200 five-inch rockets in bombardment of enemy storage areas, assembly points and base camps at widely scattered points along the South Vietnamese coast.

132 bombers, flying high above monsoon rain clouds, made a noon strike at Communist bases near the Cambodian frontier, on the other side of the country. The big jets from Guam zeroed in on a base camp and training area in Tay Ninh Province 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

Reinforcements held American pilots to 96 missions over North Viet Nam Friday and all these were concentrated in the panhandle, a narrow sector between mountains and the sea extending about 150 miles north of the border.

Two planes were shot down, boosting to 357 the official list of such losses over North Viet Nam. The pilots of both — a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief and a Navy A1E Skyraider — were rescued.

Bomb damage reports catalogued 11 breaks in a 20-mile section of one of North Viet Nam's main supply roads, Route 101. Pilots said they started many fires and heavily damaged five buildings at the Bien Son army barracks. Three oil storage depots were reported destroyed or damaged.

Sorties below the border included strikes by Air Force Canberra bombers and Marine jets at a Communist concentration nine miles south of Da Nang.

Bunker, Hall Hurl Orioles To 4-1 Edge

CHICAGO (AP) — Wally Bunker and Dick Hall scattered four hits, hurling the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles to a 4-1 victory over Chicago Saturday.

Curt Blefary's 19th homer launched a three-run rally in the fifth inning that provided the margin for Bunker's first victory since June 25. The 21-year-old right-hander, making his first start since July 20, checked the White Sox until the eighth, when he gave way to Hall.

Bunker, who spent 19 days on the disabled list last month because of arm trouble had little difficulty in gaining his ninth victory against five losses.

He lost his shutout bid in the seventh when Pete Ward singled, went to third on a double by Ken Berry and scored on Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly.

White Sox starter Jack Lamabe retired the first 11 Baltimore batters before Frank Robinson doubled in the fourth. The Orioles caught up with Lamabe in the fifth, Blefary touching off the uprising with his one-out homer.

Baltimore added two more runs on singles by Bob Johnson, Andy Etchebarren and Luis Aparicio, and a double by Ray Snyder.

Etchebarren beat out a bunt in the ninth and came around on a sacrifice, wild pitch and passed ball, giving the Orioles their final run.

Bold Bidder And Tom Rolfe Will Clash Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Bold Bidder, a long striding stretch runner, and diminutive Tom Rolfe hook up again Monday in the 1 1/2 mile $100,000-added Aqueduct Handicap with the winner rating consideration for the 1966 handicap division title.

Bold Bidder, who races in the silks of John Gaines, and Tom Rolfe, from the Powhatan stable of Raymond Guest, met in the recent Washington Park Handicap at Arlington with Bold Bidder winning. His time of 1:32 for the one mile was only one-fifth second off the world record. Tom Rolfe carried 128 pounds, eight more than Bold Bidder.

There is a shift in Tom Rolfe for Monday's race, as he will carry topweight of 127 pounds, four more than Bold Bidder.

The track handicapper has made the 1965 3-year-old champion the 2-1 favorite. No rider was listed when the entries were made Saturday, but Bill Shoemaker is expected to get the mount.

Bold Bidder, with Peter Anderson, and Greentree's Malicious, with Braulio Baeza and 122 pounds, were second choices at 4-1.

Staunchness, Indulto, Selari, Big Rock Candy, Fast Count, Pluck, Mr. Right and Quita Dued round out the field.

CALIFORNIAN WINS

TWO DUQUINO RACES

DUQUINO, Ill. (AP) — Chuck Arnold of Gardena, Calif., won both 50-mile compact sprint car races Saturday at the Duquino (Ill.) State Fair.

Arnold averaged 85.53 miles per hour in winning the first race after leading from the 39th mile on. Minor accidents kept the caution flag up for 11 miles of the race.

In the second, Arnold took the lead at the start and never relinquished it, averaging 97.27 miles per hour.

The races are sanctioned by the U.S. Auto Club. Sunday and Monday, 100-mile auto races are scheduled at the fair.

ASK WAIVERS ON BAKER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams Friday asked waivers on Terry Baker, former Oregon State Heisman Trophy winner.

The 1962 All-America was quoted by a spokesman for the National Football League team as saying he has not decided whether he will continue playing football. He can be claimed by some other NFL team.

Baker has been used sparingly in his three seasons with the Rams.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A fourth-inning home run by Lou Brock carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a second successive victory over San Francisco, 3-2, Saturday. The loss dropped the Giants two games behind National League-leading Pittsburgh.

Brock's 14th homer boosted the Cards' lead over loser Bob Bolin to 3-1 and provided the winning cushion for left-hander Larry Jaster, who later gave up Jesus Alou's first home run of the season.

Jaster, who has shut out Los Angeles four times in four tries but hadn't pitched a complete game against any other club this season, collected his ninth victory, yielding seven hits.

The Giants, who have lost four games out of six on a current road trip, tied the score 1-1 in the second when Willie Mays walked and scored on singles by Alou and Ollie Brown.

The Cards then went ahead to stay in the bottom of the second on Tim McCarver's lead-off single, a single by Dal Maxvill and Jaster's sacrifice fly.

Buffle Captures New Hampshire Stakes Classic

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — Buffle, a flying chestnut colt from Robert Kieberg's King Ranch, took the measure of nine rivals in the World's richest race for three-year-olds Saturday as he won the $277,250 New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic at Rockingham park.

The son of Zenith hit the finish line three lengths in front of Reginald Webster's Amberoid.

J. M. Schiff's lightly-regarded Deckhand was another three-quarters of a length back in third place.

For his fourth victory in 14 starts this year, Buffle earned $180,212.50 to boost his 1966 earnings to $348,261.50.

Buffle paid $11.20, $5.40, and $3.80. Amberoid returned $4.80 and $3.60. Deckhand who closed with a mighty rush, paid $7.40 to show.

Four holders of tickets on Buffle won $50,000 each in the New Hampshire Sweepstakes. The same number of ticket-holders on Amberoid received $25,000 each and four who drew Deckhand in the Sweeps received $12,250.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Injuries continued to plague Illinois even though practice is but three days old. Latest to join the disabled list was No. 1 quarterback Bob Naponic and promising sophomore tight end Mike Murawski.

Naponic bruised the elbow on his throwing arm right while blocking, and won't be able to resume throwing until next week. He has been replaced by Rich Erickson, Murawski, 220-pounder from Lockport, twisted his knee, and could miss much of the pre-schedule practice period.

Two sophomores moved into first string positions. Herschel Johnson of Belleville replaced letterman Dave Tomasula as inside linebacker, and 230-pound Tony Peivack of Zion-Benton became No. 1 defensive left guard in place of another soph, Mike Rogers.

Allen And Groat Power Phillies To 4th In Row 8-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Rich Allen drilled a two-run homer and Dick Groat cracked three singles, knocking in three runs, as the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the New York Mets 8-4 Saturday night for their fourth straight victory.

Right-hander Rick Wise checked the Mets on six hits and gained his fourth victory in 10 decisions.

Allen hit his 36th homer — and third in the last two games — in the eighth inning after starting a three-run rally in the seventh with a two-out double.

Groat singled across one of three Philadelphia runs in the sixth, then keyed the seventh inning burst with a two-run single.

Chuck Hiller doubled off Wise in the first inning and scored on Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly. The Mets picked up a run in the sixth on doubles by Boyer and Jim Hickman, and Ed Kranepool hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

Tight Pitching Prevails Again In World Meet

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Spectacular pitching prevailed again in the International Softball Conference World Tournament as four loser-bracket teams remained alive.

In a daytime makeup session, Iowa City, Iowa, defeated Camden, S. C., 1-0 on lefty Pete Carlson's no-hitter.

Moline, Ill., Harrelson tripped Long Beach, Calif., 2-0; Allentown, Pa., slipped past Ft. Worth, Tex., 1-0 in nine innings and Illinois State champion Rock Island Herford downed Lamar, Colo., 1-0, also in nine innings.

All of Saturday's losers were eliminated.

Two winner-bracket semifinal games were included in Saturday night's four-game schedule.

In competition Saturday night, Allentown eliminated Rock Island Herford by handing them a 2-0 defeat. Gardena, Calif., downed Pomona, Calif., 1-0 in a nine-inning contest.

The host Rock Island Bombers were to meet Longmont, Colo., later in the evening.

Reds Fall 7-3

Koufax Wins 22nd, Dodgers Take 2nd

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sandy Koufax, given late inning relief help by Phil Regan, won his 22nd game Saturday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed Cincinnati 7-3 and moved into second place in the National League race.

The Dodgers moved one percentage point ahead of the San Francisco Giants, who lost to St. Louis 3-2. The Dodgers and Giants are two games behind first-place Pittsburgh.

Koufax, who has lost eight, gave up eight hits, including a two-run homer by Deron Johnson in the third inning, before tiring and fiving way to Regan at the start of the seventh.

Lou Johnson's two-run double highlighted a four-run sixth-inning rally for the Dodgers.

Jim Gilliam and Willie Davis walked and Johnson followed with a double off the center field scoreboard.

The Dodgers loaded the bases again on a walk to John Kennedy, and two more runs came home when Jeff Torborg's grounder got through third baseman Tommy Helms for an error.

The Dodgers got a run in the first inning on Willie Davis' triple and Lefebvre's single. They added two more in the eighth on Torborg's run-producing double and a single by Gilliam.

The Reds scored their first run in the sixth on Leo Cardenas' sacrifice fly after Tony Perez singled and Don Pavletich doubled.

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith, the world middleweight champion, will meet Joey Archer in a return title bout Friday.

Oct. 21, Harry Markson, managing director of boxing for Madison Square Garden, announced Saturday.

The first fight between the New Yorkers took place last July 13 with Griffith winning a majority decision. The victory was Griffith's 51st against seven defeats. Archer's record is 46-3-0.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams Friday asked waivers on Terry Baker, former Oregon State Heisman Trophy winner.

The 1962 All-America was quoted by a spokesman for the National Football League team as saying he has not decided whether he will continue playing football. He can be claimed by some other NFL team.

Roseboro: Job Easy, Work Hard

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — John Roseboro is to the Los Angeles Dodgers what Rudolph Bing is to the Metropolitan Opera or Leonard Bernstein to the New York Philharmonic.

Roseboro does some directing and managing himself, although he insists when it comes to handling performers like Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Claude Osteen, there isn't much work involved.

"They do 90 per cent of it," Roseboro says. "All I have to do is call the pitches."

"I think," Osteen said, "that Gabby is oversimplifying."

John Roseboro is the catcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, a position he has held for the last nine years. Now, at 34, he's enjoying his finest year in the major leagues.

As befits his nickname, he quietly talks about luck being the reason he has an excellent chance to finish over .300 for the first time in his career.

As Osteen said, "oversimplifying" again.

Roseboro has a habit of understating things which is only natural for someone who has handled Koufax and Drysdale during their prime.

"With Sandy, Don and now Osteen," John says, "I don't have to demand much out there. If they don't want to throw a certain pitch, don't throw it. With a younger pitcher, it might be different because I know the hitters and I know the situations."

"What makes John exceptional," says Osteen, who came to the Dodgers from Washington a year ago, "is his ability to do the little things for a pitcher."

"I know in my case it is essential that I have a catcher who works with me. This may sound strange, but there are plenty of catchers who may be lazy or don't care. They just sit in back of the plate and give the signs."

"John is different. He works with me; he keeps me thinking. I've met two great catchers and John is one of them. Hobbie Landrith was the other. He was with Washington when I was there. He caught me in one game and I learned more that one time than I had in all the years before."

There aren't many like that, John is one and, although I haven't pitched to him, I hear Don Crandall is another. They know every aspect of the game, know every hitter, every situation."

For the past five years, Roseboro has averaged 132 games for the Dodgers. This year, he has missed only 18 games.

"I asked for a rest a few weeks ago," John said. "It's getting harder all the time."

It may be getting harder, but number "8" is a fixture behind the plate for the Dodgers, even if he insists his contribution is only 10 per cent.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cookie Gilchrist, holed up at his mining operations in Canada, says the Denver Broncos of the American Football League owe him $59,000 on his no-out contract.

Gilchrist also said he prefers retirement to the "abuse I've been getting."

Gilchrist, a workhorse fullback who gained 954 yards rushing for Denver last season and helped the Buffalo Bills win the AFL championship in 1964, has been at odds with Bronco officials since a training camp incident.

The club has placed him on the reserve list and instituted suit for some $20,000 which they claim Gilchrist owes the club. Having placed him on the reserve list, the Broncos cannot activate him this year but could trade him.

Gilchrist, in making his statement Friday, said the $59,000 owed him is the remainder of his no-out contract plus bonuses. He pointed out that Denver "is stuck with me, that's the bitter truth."

"If Denver doesn't trade me this year, I'm going to be of less value to them. The same goes for three years from now when I'll be of even less value on the market," he said, "and even less value from now."

The New Jim Brown

LONDON, England — (NEA) making that an outsider can't grasp. It's like the real army table and the planes of his strong face glinted like polished mahogany. The time was lunch at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer commissary in Boreham Wood, a suburb of London in Hertfordshire. The subject was truth.

"I speak the truth," said Brown. "If you deny me, you're my enemy."

"And just," a listener wanted to know, "what is the truth?" Brown was dressed in the drab army fatigues which are his uniform as an actor in a movie called "The Dirty Dozen". He leaned back reflectively, a half smile playing across his strong lips, and he crooked his left arm across the top of the chair to support his head.

"Maybe," he suggested, "it's what Cassius Clay says when he calls all white men the devil. That could be the truth."

"I can't buy it."

Brown was caught up in the emotion of the subject. He leaned forward and pointed a finger.

"Listen," he said, "you're Charlie, baby. I'm fighting you."

There was no mirth in the way Brown called me "Charlie." It was chilling, though I felt no physical danger. This was a room full of professionals, and we're all civilized and the conversation was meant to be impersonal.

"Charlie" is every white man. But in Brown, the layer of hostility and distrust, which he can't always subdue, flips up into a wall of aloofness that shuts out easy relationships and normal give-and-take conversation.

"It took a lot for Jimmy to play Robert Jefferson in that scene," said Lee Marvin. "To subdue his real self at first and be a Southern-taking Negro, then suddenly come out of it and I was Charlie. But he understood what it meant."

Jimmy Brown's pad is now a walk-up flat on Portman Street in London's West End, the high rent district. The living room is small. The big set of golf clubs looks conspicuous. Jimmy offered wine to the visitor.

Brown wore only a mustard-colored robe with white piping, and he hadn't bothered to shave because this was a weekend off from work on the movie. He was essentially relaxed. But he was also on guard because two years ago I wrote a piece critical of his book in which he stated:

"The white man has forced me to be prejudiced against him."

"How can I talk to you," he said now, "and know that what I say won't be twisted? As a writer, you've got power that I can't answer."

"Prejudice isn't calling me a nigger. That's stupidity. You can see the enemy, and you got nothing to be afraid of. Put me in a room alone with any man, and I know I'm going to win. It's the others that I look out for, that aren't so obvious."

Since he wasn't explicit and professionally I was more interested in Jimmy Brown and football, the conversation was diverted from his precept of society to his immediate future as a man. Everybody, for instance, retains a feeling he will return to the Cleveland Browns when the movie finishes shooting this fall.

"I seldom predict the future," he said, "but right now I don't see myself actually being in football in any capacity. I know I won't be in it as a player."

Brown didn't feel any moral guilt about failing to fulfill the third year of his contract with the Cleveland Browns this year. He said it's not a contract to play, only an option on his services if he did play. He was displeased that Art Modell, the owner of the Browns, threatened to fine him $100 for every day he wasn't in camp because until the July 17th reporting day, Modell had no legal claim on him.

"He was pressured into doing it," said Brown, "by Commissioner Pete Rozelle."

"I could play another year of football and get some money. But time was getting short for me as an actor. I'm on a crash program. Football isn't important. People don't even know me here."

But he was the greatest runner in the history of the game, and his legacy is in the 1966 National Football League record manual, which shows him topping every important rushing statistic.

"I had nine good years as a football player," he mused. "I had some wonderful relationships. I still have them. I talk to John Wooten (guard for the Browns), who's the head of our Negro Industrial and Economic Union in Cleveland. So all the guys are still my partners."

"And I also have a new career."

Stage 10 on the movie lot in Boreham Wood was made up to look like the inside of a World War II army stockade.

"There is an enemy to movie"

"The tempestuous Californian's racquet relative happens to be Rafael Osuna of Mexico. They're so close they even roomed together when both attended the University of Southern California."

In six major matches prior to their encounter in the American Zones finals held in Cleveland, Ralston, Uncle Sam's No. 1 man, clipped Osuna, the No. 1 Mexican, five times.

It didn't come as much of a shock then when during Denny's Davis Cup play, since Brazil, by some freak of geography, competed in the European Zone eliminations and already knocked Spain out of Davis Cup contention this year.

The Brazilians pose plenty of trouble in October. Apparently, no one has been able to discern any "cousins" on their squad.

Redbirds In Better Shape This Season

VIRGINIA — Virginia High school had a three-year unbeaten string broken in a rude fashion last season, but coach Cres Fluegel sees a much better fate in store for his Redbirds this campaign.

Virginia compiled a disappointing 1-8 record, 1-5 in the PMSC Conference, last year, their worst in recent years, in Fluegel's initial season at the helm. Twelve impressive lettermen and some promising newcomers have Fluegel and Redbird followers singing a different tune for 1966.

Four of the returning lettermen are backfield performers and all were at least part-time regulars last year. Heading the list is 155 pound senior quarterback Steve Graves, rated by Fluegel as equal to any quarterback in the area. Other backfield men are 180 pound senior fullback Dave Handy; 165 pound senior halfback Ron Baptist, who Fluegel says could be great, and 170 pound junior halfback-end Gary Babbs, a receiver with a lot of talent.

Outstanding Players Fluegel rates Graves, Handy, Riley, Hardwick, Stidman, McClure and Reiterman as potential outstanding players this season.

Among promising non-lettermen Fluegel cites 140 pound senior defensive halfback Greg Cox; 140 pound junior defensive halfback Dennis Sweetman; 145 pound sophomore halfback Darrell Cox; 160 pound junior guard Vic Herzberger; 130 pound sophomore defensive halfback Don Reynolds; 150 pound sophomore halfback Dale Ring; 175 pound sophomore tackle Jim Barrett and 175 pound sophomore guard Alan Riley.

Fluegel says, "Virginia could surprise everyone. We have fine depth, good backs and receivers and an improved offensive line. We have an outstanding quarterback, a 150% improved defense and a defense that likes to hit. New recruits will help. Illinois went from last in the Big Ten to the roses in one year. I think Virginia will begin returning to her gridiron glory this year, although I consider it a rebuilding year."

Virginia has a record turnout of 44 out for football this season.

Fluegel rates Triopia and Routt the chief PMSC threats because of the number of turnouts and their depth. He considers Bluffs a darkhorse.

Winchester's IVC title last year and the best record in the area leaves this season's crew very little to shoot at, but the Wildcats appear to have plenty of ammunition. SELECT BEST MARE AT ILLINOIS SHOW

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Officials of national championship classes of the Illinois All-Arabian Horse Show announced Saturday that Dornaba, owned by Dr. Howard F. Kale of Bellevue, Wash., was chosen best mare.

The show, which opened Thursday, runs through Monday. The best stallion in the national championship class remained to be chosen.

In open classes, the grand champion mare was owned by Friendship Farms, East Moline. Also in open competition, the junior champion filly was shown by Paul and Sandi Loeber, Palatine, Ill.

W&M COACH RESIGNS WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—William B. Bill Chambers Jr., head basketball coach at the College of William and Mary, resigned Friday to go into private business.

Chambers, 34, produced winning teams in six of his nine years at W&M.

There was no immediate word as to a successor.

That fall he went to Houston where his condition—blockage of an artery—was alleviated by a minor operation. He was told then that eventually he would need another operation.

"I felt the numbness coming back about a month ago," Ford said from his hospital bed. "I knew that Jack Sanford—who's only seven months younger than I am, by the way—had a similar operation in '64."

"So when we got to California in early August, I talked to Sanford about it. He says he's fine now and his record shows it. One thing he suggested was that I start throwing sooner, within six weeks. He told me he waited too long and wasted a year getting back into shape."

Mickey Mantle and Ford are close friends. They have become even closer, says Mantle, smiling, since "Whitey started getting a taste of hospital life."

"I will say this," Mantle added, "if I ever had the chance to pick a dream team in a dream game, Whitey'd be my starting pitcher. He's unbelievable in the clutch and that's why I know he'll be back."

"I look at the rest of our pitching staff and then I look at Whitey," Howard said. "As far as I'm concerned, the Chairman of the Board is still Chairman of the Board."

GAME A SELLOUT EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern University sold Friday that all of Dyche Stadium's 55,000 seats have been taken for the Oct. 1 Wildcat home game with Notre Dame.

Ticket manager Sid Richardson hastened to add, however, that tickets to Northwestern's other four home games are still available.

Winchester Is Loaded Devlin Nips Casper Once Again For Carling Title

WINCHESTER — Coach Larry Exton and his Winchester Wildcats ran up one of the best marks in the school's history and the best in Central Illinois last year, but rival squads best beware. Winchester may be just as good or better this time around.

Exton, starting his sixth season at the helm, has size, speed and experience to start with, and an impressive squad of 70 boys from the school with 350 enrollment to back them up.

Winchester was 7-0-2 last year, tying Pleasant Hill and Pittsfield, and won the Illinois Valley Conference title with a 5-0-1 slate. At present the Wildcats have to be favored to make a strong run for the IVC roses again.

Heading the list of returnees are a pair of standout linemen and two dazzling runners. Steve Wisdom, a 210 pound senior center, and Ed Cloninger, a 170 pound senior guard, were both 1965 All-IVC linemen. Larry Evans, a speedy 175 pound senior halfback, was the Wildcats' leading scorer last year with seven touchdowns, and Randy Coon, a 175 pound senior fullback, is developing into a tremendous runner this year, according to Exton.

Other returning lettermen include 170 pound senior halfback George Cowper; 150 pound senior guard Dave Garrison; 175 pound senior tackle Tom Lawson; 165 pound senior end Bob Moore; a pass catching specialist; 205 pound senior tackle Harold Corzine and 155 pound junior quarterback Don Campbell, rated a top-notch passer by Exton.

The bright lights do not stop with these, as Exton has at least six others who have shown variety potential, and may even get a few starting nods between them.

They are 160 pound senior end-halfback Jerry Gregory; 185 pound senior tackle Larry Taylor; 140 pound junior halfback John Grey; 190 pound senior tackle Paul Brown; 140 pound junior halfback Steve Montgomery and 155 pound sophomore fullback Jon Evans.

Exton sees this year's IVC battle a possible three way race with his Wildcats. "Carrollton has good size and speed with many lettermen coming back that were regulars last year. Greenfield had a tremendous freshman team that lost only one game last year. Pleasant Hill has several veterans back and they get superior coaching. Southwestern and North Greene are question marks to me. They could be real tough or just so-so. They both had off years last season and now they each have entirely new coaching staffs. Both of these schools are blessed with a large number of boys turning out each year."

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Bruce Devlin of Australia, next at 216.

Neil Coles, the British Ryder Cupper, won third money of $8,500 at 288. Bert Yancey of Radnor, Pa., who had been flirting with the lead during the first three days wound up with a 75 at 292.

Devlin, who started the last round two shots behind Nagle in a tie for third place, underwent an operation for varicose veins during the winter. He recuperated by running through the ocean behind Devlin and tried desperately for a tie on the final green when he chipped from 30 feet away and barely missed.

That gave the American a second place check of $17,000 for his 73-74-69-71-287 for the four trips over the 7,037 yards of the Royal Birkdale course where par is 35-38-73.

General Powers Of Park District

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of six stories concerning various aspects of the formation, operation and authority of a park district. Voters of Jacksonville and the area surrounding the city for two miles will have the opportunity to decide whether to create a park district September 10.

Jacksonville and area voters will be given a chance to express their opinions and beliefs concerning the formation of the proposed park district September 10.

This is the second in a series of articles designed to better inform the voting public about the various aspects of a park district.

The Jacksonville area park district, if approved, would be a "general park district" created by the Illinois legislature in 1951.

CRASH KILLS ROGER SPENCER — A former Winchester youth, Roger Spencer, of Roodhouse, was fatally injured in a two-car crash that also claimed the lives of four persons of one family late Saturday night.

Beardstown Downtown Flooded

A two-hour rain dumped five and one-half inches of rain on downtown Beardstown Saturday afternoon, causing an undetermined amount of damage.

Basements of stores were flooded, and thousands of dollars worth of merchandise ruined before Virginia and Beardstown fire departments were called in to begin pumping out the buildings.

Rain, which started about one o'clock, continued until shortly after three o'clock flooding many of the downtown and residential streets.

Tom Phelps local weather observer, measured the rain at five and one-half inches "or more." Phelps said that the downpour was the heaviest in the memory of many older Beardstown citizens.

Among other establishments hit by the deluge, was the post office. Postal authorities said that the basement of the building was flooded, and work began immediately to clean the interior once the rain stopped.

Jacksonville experienced only .96 of an inch of rain during the afternoon shower here for the first recorded rainfall of the new month.

Gertrude Reid Dies Saturday

Mrs. Gertrude Reid, a former Jacksonville resident for many years, passed away unexpectedly Saturday evening in Chicago.

The deceased was the wife of Ernest M. Reid, who preceded her in death last July.

Immediate surviving relatives include a son, Frank A. Reid of Chicago, and one brother, John Evans of Wonder Lake, Illinois.

Funeral services will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Blake and Lamb Funeral Home in Chicago.

Graveside rites will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at Diamond Grove cemetery, Jacksonville, with Father R. M. Harris officiating.

OIL TANK EXPLODES NEAR DECATUR

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—An oil storage tank, containing an estimated 800 to 900 gallons of crude oil, blew up and burst into flames Saturday on a farm in Harriestown Township, about eight miles west of Decatur.

Police said there were no injuries reported and that the tank was probably struck by lightning.

Flames from the burning tank ignited two of four adjacent tanks and firemen from four local departments were fighting to keep the fire from reaching the final two tanks.

The farm, tanks and a nearby well are owned by Donald Dipper of Harriestown, who estimated the damages at $4,000.

Family Of Four Die, Roger Spencer Killed In Two-Car Accident

The lives of five persons ended tragically in an auto accident late Saturday night at Lincoln and West Morton.

The dead, which included four persons of one family and a Roodhouse youth, were tentatively identified as Willard W. Dahl, 22; his wife, Mary, and their two young children, all passengers in one car.

A fifth youth, Roger Spencer, 20, of Roodhouse, formerly of Winchester, was pronounced dead at Passavant hospital.

Three other youths, occupants of the car in which Spencer as a passenger, Joe Kindred and Bruce Adams, both of Jacksonville, and David Coats of White Hall were all taken to local hospitals where they were not believed to be in serious condition.

Spencer, who attended Illinois College, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verba Spencer of Roodhouse.

Members of the Jacksonville rescue squad were called to the scene to remove the passengers in the small foreign car.

Tentative reports from investigating police revealed that one car was traveling on Morton. Both autos were knocked south of Morton on Lincoln avenue by the force of the impact.

Coroner John B. Martin said that all four members of the Dahl family were pronounced dead at the scene.

August Treats City Residents A Little Better

After suffering through temperatures frequently in the nineties and very little rainfall during July, Jacksonville residents were treated to cooler-than-usual temperatures and over five inches of rain during August.

Official figures released at the WLDL co-operative weather station show the average thermometer reading during August was 70.7 degrees. This is about two degrees cooler than August of last year, and considerable below the long-term August average of 75.8 degrees.

The only reading above 90 occurred on the first day of the month when the mercury reached 92. The lowest temperature was a 49 on the 3rd.

Precipitation during the month totaled 5.28 inches. Although this is two-and-quarter inches over the long-term average, it is about three-quarters of an inch below the August 1965 total.

The heaviest rainfall occurred on the 15th, when 1.67 inches fell during a 45-minute period. This rain was accompanied by high winds, lightning and some hail and resulted in thousands of dollars damage to this area.

EX-ECONOMIC AIDE FAVORS TAX HIKE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, is in favor of an immediate tax increase to take the mounting pressures off prices, wages and imports.

An earlier story Saturday by The Associated Press incorrectly said that Heller, now a faculty member of the University of Minnesota, is on record in favor of a tax cut to ease the current economic expansion.

Heller was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Kennedy when the big income tax cut of 1964 was decided upon.

Heller recently told a seminar at the University of Wisconsin that affirmative action should be taken at the present time on a federal tax increase.

"We should do this before the November elections and not wait for a new congress," he said.

The general co-chairmen this year are Mrs. Richard Lukeman and Mrs. Brewster. They announce the following committee chairmen appointments:

Ticket sales, Mrs. John Taylor; luncheon and kitchen, Mrs. Gaston Foote; dining room and buffet tables, Mrs. Hugh Green; home baked foods and candies, Mrs. John Marshall, Mrs. Paul Rhodes and Mrs. James Christofferson.

Holiday decorations, Mrs. Richard Cody; holiday gifts, Mrs. George Hardesty and Mrs. Forrest Dyer; Flea Market, Mrs. Willard Cody; decoration at the church, Mrs. Fred Cody, and public relations, Mrs. C. L. Kanatzar.

Plans are also being made for the Stitches and Knits Shop to be held in conjunction with the Bazaar.

Matijevich and Brady

Miss Mary Kay Brady and Michael Paul Matijevich were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony Sunday, August twenty-eight, at Central Baptist church. The Reverend Charles Puckett officiated for the ceremony at an altar adorned with white glads, spider mums and ferns. Candles were also used at the altar.

Mrs. Puckett was at the church organ and Miss Beverly Wagner sang.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Brady, 878 North Church street and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matijevich, 512 East Morton avenue.

Miss Kathy Dalton was maid of honor and Miss Mary Lou Miller and Miss Cheryl Matijevich, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.

James Rush, cousin of the groom, was best man. Steve Rhodes and Joe Wilkerson were groomsmen. Ushers were Steve Brady, brother of the bride; Larry Matijevich, brother of the groom, Mark Cooper, nephew of the bride and Robert Patterson and Craig Woods.

The bride wore a gown of silk organza over peau de soie with pearl and lace adornment. A headpiece of white silk organza with rosebuds and lily of the valley held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of spider mums and roses.

The bride's attendants wore dresses fashioned similar to the gown worn by the bride. The maid of honor was in mauve and her matching hat was brimmed with velvet ribbon streamers. She carried a cascade of pink daisies. The bridesmaids wore darker shade costumes with matching hats and carried white roses.

The mother of the bride wore a dressmaker suit of beige linen with matching hat. Her accessories were brown. The groom's mother was in a pink suit with black accessories. Each mother wore a corsage of white roses.

At the reception held in the church basement Diana and Lana Blimling, Sherry Nortrup, Janet Thies and Peggy Markkille assisted.

The couple is residing in this city since returning from a wedding trip to the Ozarks. Both graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1966. The bride is employed at the New Method Bindery and the groom by Dennis Tree Service.

Vote For The Park District

Jacksonville area residents who live within the boundaries of the proposed Park District will make a major decision for the future of the community next Saturday, September 10th. We sincerely hope that there will be a large turnout at the polls so that the results of the park district election will fairly represent the desires of the people.

In our view the proposed Park District would prove to be of great value. Each year recreational demands grow. Modern Americans look upon recreation almost as a necessity of life. Many of our citizens spend hundreds of dollars and travel thousands of miles seeking holiday or vacation relief from daily pressures.

Yet here at home we have sadly neglected what few facilities we have. And certainly we have done very little to develop new recreational areas. The City of Jacksonville, limited as it is financially, cannot do the job. We must have the Park District if we are to make available locally better recreational opportunities.

There are some voters who will oppose the formation of the Park District simply because increased taxes would be authorized. Park District taxes are limited by Statute, however, and cannot exceed 2 1/2 cents per hundred dollar valuation without further referendum. Jacksonville taxpayers already pay 10 cents per hundred under the city's levy. It is quite unlikely that the new Park District board would go up to the 2 1/2 cent limit in its levies.

No one likes to contemplate a tax increase, even a slight one. We favor the Park District proposal, however, because we consider it an excellent bargain for the community, well worth the reasonable financing required to meet a need which becomes more urgent year by year.

A Time To Take Stock

Labor Day is not so much organized labor's day any more, in this era of powerful unions, as it is a time for taking stock of the three-way relationship among the interests of labor, management and the public. Experience during 1966 has made it evident that the public interest is not getting a fair shake.

The example that comes most intensely to mind, if only because it is fresh in memory, is the prolonged shutdown of five big airlines which ordinarily handle from 60 to 70 per cent of the air passenger business in this country. There is no doubt that the shutdown seriously disrupted our transportation system and inconvenienced many Americans. The public interest, in short, suffered substantial damage because flights were so long delayed pending negotiation of a settlement.

The stopgap legislation so gingerly advanced by Congress without any clear administration guidance would not have been a satisfactory answer even had it been brought to bear. As it happened, the settlement allowed all who had been so nervous about political repercussions to sigh with relief and turn to other matters.

Fortunately, there are indications that some in Congress are determined not to let the matter drop, but to carry on in the session opening next January. There is some prospect that a vigorous effort will be made to devise and enact legislation to safeguard the public interest in such episodes without needless infringement of the collective bargaining process.

This will not easily be done. Neither labor nor business has much relish for interference with the give and take of negotiation. But events not long before Labor Day 1966 have made it clear that the public's rights need protection.

Dear Ann:

Self-Conscious About Hairiness

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: My husband died when our son was two years old. Mike is now 17 and I am very proud of him. His scholastic record is excellent and he has earned recognition in sports.

Mike has always enjoyed swimming and he used to go to the pool often—until this year. When I noticed he was making excuses not to go with his friends I became suspicious. Yesterday I learned the reason and now I need your advice.

Mike was mowing the lawn when one of his friends walked by and yelled, "Hi, Ape. Tried out for any Tarzan pictures lately?"

Mike's face turned crimson. He did not answer. I asked Mike what it was all about. He replied, "I have hair growing all over my back shoulders and the kids call me 'Ape'."

Do you recommend shaving, hair removal creams or perhaps even electrolysis in a case such as this? Please tell me what is best for my son. —R. R. R.

Dear R. R. R.: Shaving, hair removal creams or electrolysis is no answer when a man's back and shoulders are involved.

Mike needs to talk to someone who can get through to him and make him accept his hairiness without shame. This will not be easy since his friends have already made him extremely self-conscious. Ask your family doctor for guidance.

Dear Ann Landers: My children are 8, 7 and 5. Their father has a hot temper and when they misbehave he really wallops them.

The kids are afraid of their daddy. When they do something wrong they beg me not to tell him. I usually say, "O.K. if you promise not to do it again."

Yesterday the two older ones were playing with matches. I caught them twice. They promised not to do it again if I didn't tell daddy. Am I over-protecting my children? —UNDECIDED

Best for my son. —R. R. R.

Dear Undecided: You are

"UNDER" - protecting your children and I hope you see this answer before somebody catches on fire.

Don't make deals with those kids. Work on your husband to be less harsh with them. You'll have better children and a better marriage.

The alarms are really clanging now, but they seem not to have stirred any sweeping public clamor for action. Nevertheless, it is abundantly clear that judicial reform warrants a far higher priority than either congressional or executive reform. The U.S. Judicial Conference is currently discussing reform proposals at meetings around the country. The American Bar Association Foundation has field studies under way, with a report due early in 1967.

Under Maryland's Sen. Joseph Tydings, the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on improvements in judicial machinery has been involved in hearings on and off all year — with more to come.

The group already has decided that merely adding more judges will not do. No miracles are expected from this year's expansion law, which is adding 34 U.S. district and 10 appeals court judges. After 63 new district judgeships were created in 1961 — a 25 per cent increase in judicial manpower — the federal courts in fiscal 1964 handled only 64,000 cases as against 62,000 before the change.

Tydings is arguing that first emphasis has to be put on modernizing court administration at all levels. By ample testimony, court administrative machinery today is largely antiquated and inadequate.

Federal courts need only money to introduce computerized business practices. States need authorizing legislation as well. Tydings wants to see a federal pilot project undertaken in District of Columbia courts. For the states, he is offering a "national court assistance act" which would provide $15 million over a three-year span to help spur initiative toward administrative reforms.

He would set up an "Office of Judicial Assistance" to provide "central clearinghouse" advice to judges and courts which want help in modernizing.

What a streamlined court system can do is illustrated dramatically in Los Angeles, where the Superior Court — with 120 judges serving a huge area — undertook administrative reforms which cut delays in civil jury cases from more than 12 years to less than six months.

Feed Fever, Don't Starve It

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q — My grandmother always says, "Starve a fever, feed a cold." Is that good advice?

A — Dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center say, "No!" During a fever, the body cells require more food energy. Therefore, lack of food during a fever means body tissue will be burned as fuel, they explain.

Q — I don't have much appetite and really eat very little. But I take a lot of vitamins.

Aren't they the same as food? A — That's the vitamin myth. No, vitamin concentrates cannot take the place of food. They are not the same as meat, potatoes and vegetables. People who rely on them may lack protein, minerals or other nutrients. An adequate American diet should provide all the vitamins needed by the body. In case of deficiency, however, a physician is the one who should prescribe a diet supplement, not your friends or druggist, the University of Michigan dietitians advise.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It's a Waiting Game to Get Justice in U.S. Courts

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The nation's judiciary, the heralded "third branch" in the co-ordinate U.S. system of government, is on the way toward breaking down in some critical areas.

The courts — federal, state and local — are generally so overburdened, so inefficient and so ill-equipped to cope with the avalanche of problems descending upon them that justice is either being delayed or denied in thousands upon thousands of cases.

From 1962 through 1965, the case backlog in all U.S. district courts rose 15 per cent to an astonishing 74,000.

More than 1,700 cases in New York's Southern District, where 24 judges preside, last summer had been pending more than three years. In Pennsylvania's Eastern District, with 11 judges, the rising backlog reached 6,000 last year, with the median delay between issue and trial measured at 41 months.

State courts are no better. The average litigant in Cook County, Illinois, waits nearly six years from filing to trial in a Circuit Court civil jury case. The backlog in Texas exceeds 212,000 cases.

Uncounted thousands of individuals and many corporations are simply bearing injustice rather than undertake the cost of litigation in time and money. Thousands of cases are settled out of court, often with no justice to the complainant, for the same reason.

In case after case, the result of this near-breakdown in the judicial system is to reward the offender, the civil wrong-doer, sometimes even the nuisance-maker who figures it may not be worth his trouble to sue.

The alarms are really clanging now, but they seem not to have stirred any sweeping public clamor for action. Nevertheless, it is abundantly clear that judicial reform warrants a far higher priority than either congressional or executive reform. The U.S. Judicial Conference is currently discussing reform proposals at meetings around the country. The American Bar Association Foundation has field studies under way, with a report due early in 1967.

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Quite a few people last week went to the Burrus Bros. farm west of Arezville to see their new two-row, self-propelled silage cutter, the first of its kind in this area. In heavy corn it chopped at the rate of 25-30 tons per hour.

The Old Roodhouse Opera House building, condemned two years ago after a serious fire, is being razed by Contractor Ralph Beck and his crew. They expect to finish the job this week.

Dr. William Stickley, White Hall physician for the past 21 years, died suddenly at his home Tuesday morning. He was a World War I veteran of the U.S. Navy medical department.

20 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Fred Carter has been reelected president of the Morgan County Garden Club. Other officers chosen at the last meeting were Mrs. Ralph Shewmaker, Mrs. Everett Long and Miss Juanita Coultas.

The radio chimes recently installed in First Presbyterian church were formally dedicated Sunday morning. The donor, Mrs. Miriam Lyles Dunn of La Grange, was present and took part in the program.

A fund raising campaign is now in progress to build an addition to the north side of Boyd Memorial hospital, Carrollton. In the five years the hospital has been in operation it has received 2,013 patients and 601 babies have been born there.

30 YEARS AGO

Buckhorn is to have a new school house. The old one was in such a state of disrepair that it would take a goodly sum of money to make it conform with the present school law and it was decided that a new one should be built. J. W. Wood of this city has the contract and is to have it finished before cold weather sets in.

Warren Wright of Murrayville left Thursday for Chicago where he expects to take an embalmer's course. He will be gone three months.

Already the papers have commenced to print hard luck stories from the various colleges and universities about poor football prospects.

75 YEARS AGO

A tramp entered the house of T. D. Richardson, ex-county surveyor, last Friday noon while the family were away at the fair, and helped himself to dinner. The neighbors saw him coming out of the house with both hands full of victuals.

The first car load of potatoes for this season were received by the Moore Produce Co. yesterday. They came from Iowa and are choice.

Now that the excitement of the fair is over the sport loving people can turn their attention to base ball, for a month at least. The new team will probably make things lively.

100 YEARS AGO

A BIG PURCHASE—Mr. John T. Alexander, of this county, a few days ago, purchased what is known as the Sullivan farm in Champaign county, consisting of over twenty-two thousand acres. I believe when there were any changes made on account of the weather or other reasons, the public received ample notice by the Journal and Courier and radio.

MUD — The late rains have left the roads in a muddy condition, and the streets quite sloppy. The grasses and corn, however, have been greatly benefited.

COMMUNICATIONS

Dear Editor:

This letter is about the controversy over water and sewer between the city and the village of South Jacksonville.

This is being written by a home owner and resident of the village who is intensely interested in this controversy.

One thing should be understood clearly. For reasons not quite clear to this writer the majority of the residents of the village are dead set against becoming a part of the city and no squeeze play by anyone is going to change this feeling.

If the mayor and city is willing to be fair with the village what is there to be negotiated? The city must charge everyone enough for the facilities to covary cost of maintenance, interest on bonds and retirement of bonds. That must be what the residents of the city pay and it is what the residents of the village should expect to pay. The city has ample water and the city can provide sewer facilities for the city and village cheaper than the village can take care of their own separately.

Why can't the mayor state openly in the columns of the Journal Courier that the village will be treated fairly, that water and sewer will be furnished us the same as if we were a part of the city. The city cannot agree to furnish us these facilities for a set price over a number of years because no one can tell what a dollar will buy at any time in the future. But, the mayor and the city can give an ironclad promise that we will be treated the same as if we were a part of the city.

If the mayor and the city will deal fairly with us we can't afford not to do business with them. If they will not deal fairly then we can't afford TO deal with them. It has been a long time since a lawmaker stood on his hind legs and said "Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute." That has been the watchword of red blooded Americans ever since and we hope it always will be.

To the residents of our village this writer would remind you that the bonds the village proposes to sell will amount to at least $1,000.00 for each home in the village. The bonds will not be a mortgage on the homes but it will be a mortgage on our water and sewer and we will have to pay the interest and retire the bonds as promised. Our homes would not be worth much without water and sewer.

The amount we are paying the city for water and sewer at present would just about pay the interest on the bonds. We would still have to retire the bonds and maintain the facilities, read the meters, man the pumps, the filter plant, the water lines and sewer lines. We would have to pay whatever rate it took to pay for these things.

If anyone thinks they can produce a rosier picture let them figure it out but be sure you figure correctly.

Now will the mayor come forward and put an end to this bickering before we have to turn East and West Michigan into a "Jackass lane."

A Village Resident

To Whom It May Concern— In answer to a meeting of the Jacksonville Advisory Committee and two life guards and their discussion of Sandy Beach and a list of the life guards' suggested improvements for Sandy Beach, I have enclosed a list of their suggestions and my answers to them.

—markings for deep water. The deep water is already marked off.

—have at least two life guards at all times. There has been very few times there was only one life guard, and on these occasions the swimming was very light and the guards had cooperation and help from one or two of the swimmers. Actually, most of the time there were from two to five guards on duty.

—have one life buoy at each life guard stand. We have one life buoy. For some reason we were unable to obtain another one, but on numerous occasions when I went to the beach, the life buoy was tossed in one corner of the beach house when the people were swimming. So if we had a half-dozen buoys they would be of no help at the beach house.

—cooperate with public health authorities concerning the bacteria count in the water. We have cooperated 100 per cent with the county health officer. We treated water every time it was suggested.

—restrict swimming to persons at least two years of age. There was no charge for children under 3 years of age.

—open and close the beach in accordance with hours and days made known to the public. I believe when there were any changes made on account of the weather or other reasons, the public received ample notice by the Journal and Courier and radio.

—have someone maintain the beach area. The beach area has been maintained several times.

—an area should be restricted for eating and no food allowed

FINDING THE WAY

Dr. Loew

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is an Old Testament story which is relevant to Labor Day. A military underling had been charged with the responsibility of guarding a captive. When the hour of reckoning arrived, the prisoner had escaped and there was only this lame excuse: "While I was busy here and there, he was gone!" That incident is repeated with embarrassing regularity through the centuries.

It is our contemporary problem. Fifty years ago the labor movement in America had to fight for dignity, fair wages and reasonable hours. That struggle continues in one way or another but the principle has been established and recognized. In the rapidly changing economy of revolutionary automation and new international situations, it is imperative that we know what we're after now. To fight as though this were 1910 is to be "busy here and there" and miss the real issue.

Similarly, the labor philosophy for the average man is tested. We can idolize business. To be busy requires more than nervous activity. It demands purposeful work. Some people can fritter away a day in meaningless fussiness, wearing out themselves and their families without ever really accomplishing the task. Business can be a way to avoiding the business at hand.

For that matter, a parent can be busy here and there and miss the possibility of knowing his own family. A citizen can be busy here and there and lose his own freedom. A church can be busy about irrelevant matters and fail in its real responsibility. A civilization can lose its moral purpose while seeming to be busy.

It has been a hallmark of America that we are a busy people. That's our tradition. The natural challenges of this continent demanded work. As Robert Frost said:

"The land was ours before we were the land's. Possessing what we still were unpossessed by, Possessed by what we now no more possessed. Something we were withholding made us weak Until we found it was ourselves."

We were withholding from our land of living, And forthwith found salvation in surrender."

The problem is to rethink that challenge and to be busy for more than "business" sake. Genius isn't required for busyness. What is required is the peculiar gift to be busy about the things that matter most. Labor Day was founded to recognize the dignity of the laborer. In our automated world we need Labor Day in order to consider why we are doing what we are doing, lest while we are busy here and there, our very reason for being is gone.

When Appreciation Is Needed, Ask for It

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: For the past three weeks I have been working my hands to the bone to get our apartment settled after a complete repainting job. Before that there was all the confusion of getting it ready for the painters. I want to tell you that my 15-year-old daughter hasn't lifted her hand to do one thing but settle her own room. Yesterday, when I asked her to make me a cup of tea because I was so tired, she said, "Do you want waiting on or do you want me to finish my ironing?" To say such a thing to me who . . .

ANSWER: Could you be weak, dependent, "immature"—all those bad things—and tell your family that you want credit for all this hard work you have done? Could you say to them, "Please tell me that I'm a good, industrious, devoted woman because my engine is balky and need some gasoline?"

It is vital that you acknowledge your need for appreciation. It's a perfectly reasonable need. Most of us have it. Let us acknowledge it. Like you, we think that others should spare our pride by giving us appreciation without forcing us to ask for it, running to us with solicitous cups of tea and other attentions to which our virtuous labors entitle us. When they do not, we get wild at them, regarding them as ungrateful and mean.

In or near the water. This seems a proper task for life guards since they are in charge of the waterfront area.

On May 2, 1966, I accepted the responsibility of Project Sandy Beach with Alderman Jack Bourn as co-chairman. We started the project May 7 and Sandy Beach was opened to the public for swimming July 9, 1966 at 5 p.m.

In those nine weeks there were many tasks and decisions that had to be made. There was not one day that Alderman Bourn or I did not make a trip to the area. Alderman Bourn and I have not had a free weekend this summer and this amounts to a total of 17 by now.

I wish to say it is very gratifying to have had a chance to do something of this nature for this community.

I would also like to thank the opportunity to thank the many people in this area for their help of labor, machinery, material and money.

This project could not have been accomplished without them.

A big thanks to Alderman Jack Bourn, co-chairman, who carried more than his share of the load.

Respectfully,
Alderman Homer E. Baptist
214 North Church Street
Jacksonville, Ill.

Now I'm going to say something you're not going to like one bit. It is that your daughter, too, deserves some credit for settling her room amid all this confusion and trying to get her ironing done. And had you given her some appreciation for these efforts, you'd have gotten that cup of tea.

You're not going to like my saying that because our unadmitted desire for appreciation invariably insists that we are the only person who merits it.

Indeed, the more pressing is this unadmitted desire, the more we have to belittle our daughter's right to finish. She's got to be put down. The more successful we are in making her appear to be a lazy good-for-nothing, the more industrious, responsible and hard-working we can appear to be. We exactly resemble one of those applause-craving theatrical stars who screams with fury if another actor is given a good line.

And we can do nothing at all about our bitterness until we can become aware of our applause-craving passion for our family's appreciation—and sacrificing pride to the truth, ask for it.

It is vital that you acknowledge your need for appreciation. It's a perfectly reasonable need. Most of us have it. Let us acknowledge it. Like you, we think that others should spare our pride by giving us appreciation without forcing us to ask for it, running to us with solicitous cups of tea and other attentions to which our virtuous labors entitle us. When they do not, we get wild at them, regarding them as ungrateful and mean.

FARM INCOME CONTINUES UPWARD DURING FIRST HALF OF SIXTY SIX.

The USDA recently revised its forecast for the year to reflect generally higher prices in the second quarter. Total realized net farm income for 66 is now expected to be about 15.7 billion, up 1.5 billion from last year and the highest since 1948.

Gross farm income for the year was forecast at 48.5 billion, up 10% from last year. The rise is ascribed to higher cash receipts from marketings plus higher government payments, especially in wheat and cotton.

Production expenses have also shown a substantial rise during the first half year. Current estimates point to a figure of 40.7 billion dollars. Higher prices for most production items account for much of the increase although larger amounts of some of the inputs such as feeder and replacement livestock, machinery, and fertilizer have helped boost outlay. Amounts paid for interest, taxes, and labor averaged about 4% above the figure for a year earlier.

WANTED — We are prepared to give employment to an industrious boy in our establishment, if application is made immediately. The work required to be done is stemming tobacco. Apply Myers & Knollenberg's cigar store. (ADV.)

From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

For a few years Beardstown stood still, now it is growing, not an empty house can be found, many are looking for dwellings who cannot be accommodated.

John Webb has put up a large machine shop on Plankroad Street.

Henry Mehlman has made a large addition to his planing machine and furniture manufacturing, on the same street.

Without a railroad Beardstown will grow and prosper, with one, which we must have, she will make a large city.

JUNIOR BOARD ENTERTAINED AT GREGORY HOME

Mrs. Bernard Gregory hosted the Aug. 22nd meeting of the executive board of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club with the president, Mrs. Gordon May, Presiding.

The social on Aug. 24th at the home of former president, Mrs. Ronald Gano, was announced by Mrs. Link Lindstrom, after which those attending went to the Illinois College production of Carnival.

Mrs. William Hickox reported on plans to date for the sponsorship by the club of the Ozark Opry show in Jacksonville on Nov. 11th.

Mrs. Al Rosenberger was named recording secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Jack Ryan who is temporarily moving from the city.

The president announced upcoming dates Sept. 8th, first meeting of the club year at 6:30 p.m. at the Blackhawk. At this time new members will be initiated. Oct. 10th the club will host the Morgan County Federation meet at Grace Methodist church.

Mrs. John Reardon will be hostess for the Sept. 28th meeting of the board.

MUSIC TEACHER HAS PROGRAM FOR ROODHOUSE ROTARY

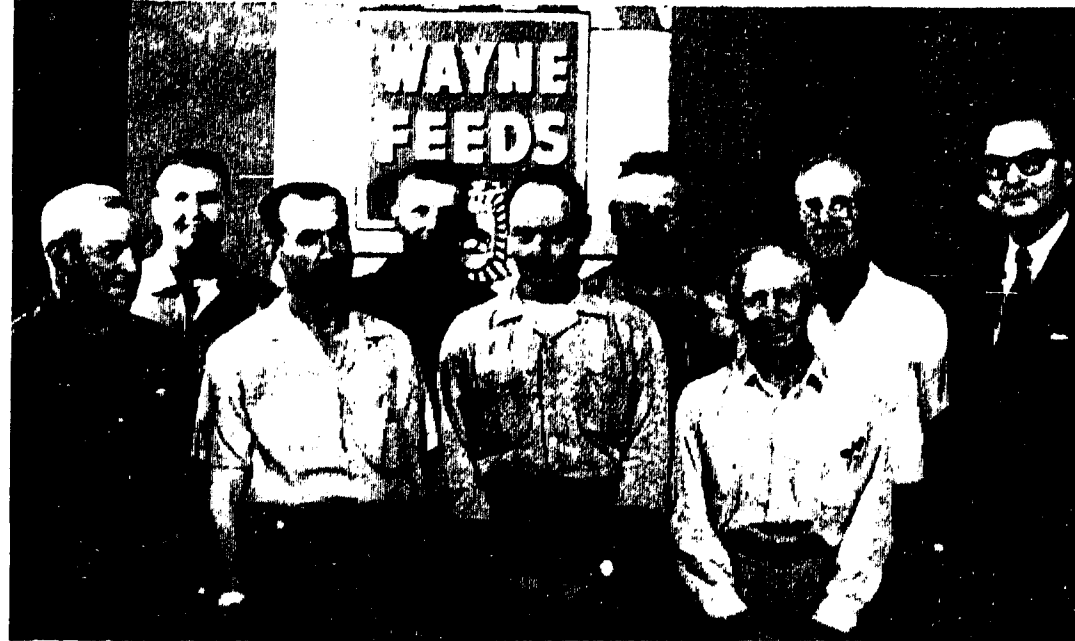

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Ron Martin, music supervisor in the North Greene Junior High and high school, presented the program for the local Rotary club, Wednesday night. She was introduced by her husband who was also a guest.

Mrs. Martin accompanied Miss Billie June Fansler and Bob Kerr at the piano who sang duets and solos. The young people, who graduated from North Greene with the class of 1966, will leave soon for college. Two newspaper articles of special interest were read to the Rotary club by Mr. Martin.

Rotarians John Marshall and Louis Meek, Jacksonville, were guests.

The dinner was served by the Khoury League Mothers.

Tour Feed Mill Experiment Farm

These Morgan county feed salesmen and their farmer customers were among 250 persons who recently inspected the Libertyville, Ill., plant of Wayne Feeds, Inc.

They also toured the 630 acre Wayne Research Farm Center with many of its research projects. Dr. Merle J. Brinegar, director of research, said today's livestock feeders must become more efficient to provide the necessary meat, milk, poultry and eggs for the population, which may be as high as 400 million by the end of this century.

Other area Wayne salesmen and farmers who joined the tour included Don Smallwood and Dave Doering of Jacksonville, Byron Caruthers of Pittsfield, Dale C. Moore and Cleve Curry of Griggsville, William J. Willis, Claude Willis and John Mitchell of Pleasant Plains and Hickory Hurie of Tallula.

What To Do To Help Bob-White?

In recent years many interested farmers and landowners have sought to provide cover and food for the quail in hopes of increasing the population of this splendid game bird. In general these attempts have been complete failures.

The following article, taken from the current issue of the Illinois Natural History Survey Report, indicates maybe we've been going about the problem backwards.

The bob-white, named for his clear piping call, is considered by many hunters to be the true royalty of Illinois' game birds. To these enthusiasts, nothing is better music to the ear than the whirr of a covey of quail exploding underfoot.

Quail have occurred abundantly in the mixed scrub and prairie country roughly south of a line connecting Jacksonville, Springfield, Mattoon, and Paris. In an effort to find ways of increasing quail populations and increasing quail hunting in the northern half of this area, Survey wildlife specialists began intensive studies in 1962 on quail habits and food and cover preferences in this area. Because of increased intensity of farming, however, two study areas had to be abandoned because the forest edge habitat became too reduced to support quail populations large enough to study experimentally.

Food Patches Planned
In 1963 Survey wildlife J. A. Ellis began cooperative bob-white studies with the Illinois Department of Conservation on the Sam Dale Lake Conservation area in Wayne county and Stephen A. Forbes State Park in Marion county. Through 1965, management of the area consisted chiefly in planting patches of food consisting of corn, wheat, milo, buckwheat, and several millets. It was hoped that these food patches would be particularly useful to the birds during winter, especially

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

SOYBEANS ARE IN SHORT SUPPLY BUT PRICES ARE HIGH

Next year is likely to be another year of closely balanced supply and use in which a record-sized crop will be used up. Growing demand should keep prices high throughout the season.

Because of many uncertainties, August is too early to make a final and firm forecast of soybean prices. First among them in the size of the crop. The August 1 crop report indicated production of 860 million bushels compared with 843 million in 1965. But the weather that most importantly affects soybean yields occurs in August and September. Weather during August has been favorable for recovery from the July drought. A crop larger than 860 million is likely.

There are four principal demands for soybeans: the domestic market for oil, the export market for oil and soybeans for oil, the export market for protein from soybeans and soybean meal, and the domestic market for soybean meal. The strength of each demand area affects soybean use and price.

Less Cottonseed Oil
There will be a major increase in the domestic use of soybean oil next year. To the usual increase resulting from population growth will be added an amount due to decreased cottonseed oil availability. The cotton crop is down 28 percent from last year. The oil from about 45 million bushels of soybeans will be required to replace cottonseed oil.

Oil exports in the form of soybeans will be large. Shipments in this form will be large enough to hold oil exports for dollars to a minimum. P. L. 480 plays an important role in soybean oil exports. The amount is uncertain because it depends on administrative decisions.

Protein exports increased by an unusually large amount in 1965-66. It appears that substantial quantities went directly to Eastern Europe and Russia. Absence of information about that area makes exports most difficult to forecast. It is possible that protein exports will be little if any larger next year than they were last year.

Strong Demand For Meal
The domestic market for soybean meal was especially strong this past year because of high livestock prices. Less favorable feeding ratios and a smaller increase in livestock numbers suggest a more moderate demand during the year ahead. However, the decrease in cottonseed meal availability is equivalent to 30 million bushels of soybeans. There is no basis for estimating how much of the cottonseed meal will be replaced by soybean meal.

The demand for soybean products has increased regularly and rapidly. The year ahead will see a major demand in when snow covered the ground. A rotation was also established on some of these areas involving annual food plots, grasses, and clover in large open fields that were sub-divided by permanent plantings of pine and multiflora rose. The idea of the tree and shrub strips was to create more woods edge.

By March 1966, it was evident that the bob-white population had decreased more than 50 percent below the 1963 levels. In an effort to discover what might be the cause of the decline, wildlife Ellis tabulated his observations on the food found in crops of killed birds, vegetation in the vicinity of roosting sites, the vegetation in the vicinity of the exact spots where coveys had been flushed, and records of the recapture of tagged birds.

Ignore Food Patches
First it was found that the quail made relatively little use of the planted food patches. Many birds ate some buckwheat, German millet, and lesser amounts of corn and wheat. The prime staples of food, however, were produced by some of the wild plants growing in the area, especially cut-leaved ragweed, lespezedea, and acorn fragments. These are also food staples for quail in other areas of southern Illinois. Especially enlightening was the fact that quail rarely visited the food patches when snow was on the ground.

The Ellis data introduced another peculiarity of quail habits. Although the quail were flushed and were found roosting outside the wooded areas, they were never far from them, seldom over a hundred yards. Many of the food patches were as much as 1/4 mile (440 yards) from wooded sites, and it may be that the quail did not feel safe so far out in the open.

Cover Too Dense?
The final, and probably most important, conclusion drawn by Ellis was that the type of rotation in the managed area produced a very heavy cover of matted grass and stems through which quail cannot move easily, and in which they have difficulty finding food. It has been found in more southern areas that quail like habitat in which the ground surface itself is fairly open, allowing the quail to run beneath the shrubs and herbs arching above the ground and making seeds and acorns on the ground much easier to see. The luxuriant weedy cover following seeding and fertilization of food patches and the permanent grass and legume areas apparently form too dense a mat.

In other parts of the country controlled burning of patches of the habitat has been found satisfactory in reducing dense mats of dead vegetation on the surface and in encouraging the growth of plants such as cut-leaved ragweed that produce the kinds of ground cover that quail are dependent upon.

In the next set of experiments in these areas, a system of experimental burning will be initiated to see if it will result in greater quail populations.

WILSON FARM IS NOW MONUMENT
President Woodrow Wilson's ancestral home in Northern Ireland's County Tyrone has been designated an Irish National Monument. The thatched-roofed farmhouse at Dergalt was the home of the 28th President's grandfather, James Wilson. Five Wilsons—three brothers and two sisters, all unmarried—worked the old farm until it was bought by the Irish government.

increase, particularly because of the decrease in cottonseed production. Unless the crop is larger than the August 1 indications, supplies will allow only a small increase in use. Use will therefore have to be curtailed and supplies rationed by high prices. But prices are already high, well above the $3 mark. The most important factor determining whether the price will need to go higher is the size of the crop, which is not yet known.

BRIMFUL The Alfalfa Weevil, Crop's Worst Pest, Journeys Northward

By Jim Brim

In this day and age I believe everyone needs a "back forty"—someplace where you can get away from it all. A place where nobody knows whether you are on the tractor, fishing or taking a snooze.

A place where automobiles can't go. This will assure you of having no bill collectors, tax assessors, motorists in distress or salesmen.

People are fine but it pays to get away from their problems some times. A "back forty" or some other refuge, is farther from people but closer to nature. The rabbits seem huge, pheasants and quail are present and unafraid, deer frequent it occasionally, and although the wildlife may free load at times they give a good show.

Since the refuge is not seen by others it is a good place to try some offbeat or new practices that you are skeptical about. Trees don't talk if it doesn't work out.

You can sing, think, dream, do as you please and no one will doubt your sanity except the birds.

Back there, you can develop or revise your philosophy and put things in balance.

Every man needs a place where he can get off by himself for some serious thinking about any and all things.

Now you should . . .
... top out hogs.
... worry about early frost.
... get Mom a new sewing machine.
... kill poison ivy.
... listen to politicians.
... prepare for fall pigs.
... read Mark 4: 26-34.

Take a good look at different varieties of corn. See what traits your varieties lacked and look at your neighbors and at company plots to determine what variety might correct your difficulties.

Clean out bins before you store new grain. Bait mice and rats. Even if you don't see any, be assured that there are some around and make an effort to kill them. It is estimated that a mature rat will eat or ruin twenty dollars worth of grain per year.

A man who does not read has no advantage over the man who cannot read.

MRS. WINKLEMAN GIVES PROGRAM AT BEREIA PICNIC

The annual Berea community picnic was held August 23 in the Berea church basement. Seventy-five persons were in attendance. Invocation was given by Rev. Alf Anderson and a delicious potluck meal was enjoyed by everyone.

After the meal Mrs. Irma Winkelman of Ashland showed slides and told of their trip to South America where they visited their son David, who is in the Peace Corps. While there they took a side trip to Paula, Brazil and Rio de Janeiro, Argentina.

The program committee included Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart.

Next year's general committee will include Miss Oley Beil-schmidt, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fling, and Mr. and Mrs. James Luster.

INDIA IMPORTS BEES
NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian agricultural officials reported encouraging results from the use of imported Italian bees.

Colonies at Punjab Agricultural University at Nagrota yielded 27 pounds of honey per colony compared with the average Indian yield of 10 pounds, they said.

Officials said they hope, through use of Italian bees, to increase India's honey production from 1.5 million pounds to 10 million annually.

This last spring and summer the most destructive alfalfa pest has spread from southern Illinois to the Wisconsin border.

The alfalfa weevil now infests 83 Illinois counties compared with only 47 southern Illinois counties in 1965, according to entomologist Ed Armbrust of the University of Illinois and the Illinois Natural History Survey. This spring parts of the 11 southernmost counties reported the most severe damage.

"Farmers who did not spray lost their entire first crop, and just to this new problem, but I believe he will do so," Armbrust said. Some farmers he knew of one farmer in southern Illinois who usually ed alfalfa dead, "If you talk to agronomists, they will tell you alfalfa is by far the best forage crop."

Armbrust concluded that weevil control would probably work into regular farm practices in growing alfalfa.

It costs four to five dollars an acre to control the weevil with insecticides. "This cost seems like a lot to some farmers, but it's a good investment," Armbrust said. "Without chemical control, the weevil eats the alfalfa leaves, which contain most of the valuable livestock feed nutrients."

Armbrust expects insecticide recommendations to change before next spring. This year, because of wet weather, southern Illinois farmers couldn't get into alfalfa fields to apply the chemicals at the right time.

Study This Winter
U. of I. entomologists are trying to set up a laboratory colony containing all stages of the insect—eggs, larvae, pupae and adults. This winter they hope to use laboratory tests to screen out ineffective insecticides.

Once the weevils have infested an area, about three years are necessary for the population to cause severe economic damage. "When weevils become established, every field in the area is infested and will need treatment," Armbrust said.

The prospect for resistant varieties doesn't look too promising right now, he said, although some states are working on resistant alfalfa strains.

Wasp An Enemy
Small European wasps, released in Illinois this year and last, are natural parasitic enemies of the weevil. At least one kind of wasp is well established now. But natural enemies are not the sole answer to the problem, Armbrust added.

"It will take several years for the Illinois farmer to ad-people to the square mile.

4-H Club Activities

The Happy Workers 4-H club met Aug. 30th at the home of Linda Stout, 722 South Church street with Sally Eilering, president, presiding.

Talks were given by Cindy Wallis and Linda Stout. Record and project books were checked and turned in. The group was driven to Pittsfield Aug. 26 colony containing all stages of the insect—eggs, larvae, pupae and adults. This winter they hope to use laboratory tests to screen out ineffective insecticides.

Afterwards the girls swam in the Pittsfield pool and enjoyed an ice cream treat on the way home.

ENROLLMENT UP IN CARROLLTON SCHOOL UNIT

CARROLLTON — Enrollment figures at the end of the first day of school in the Carrollton Community School Unit show a sizable increase over last year's enrollment. Total figures at the close of the first day were as follows: Eldred Grade, 197; Carrollton Grade, 584; Unit High School, 374. At the end of school in June the respective figures were: Eldred, 180; Carrollton, 555 and the Unit high, 352. The total increase is 58 pupils.

Parts of China's crowded Yangtze Valley support 3,600 people to the square mile.

FINDING A LANDING PLACE

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

In a continuing program to find a landing place for the Apollo astronauts the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) launched the first of five Lunar Orbiters into orbit around the moon on August 10 as shown in the picture.

Although Lunar Orbiter I came only within 28 miles of the moon at its closest approach it covered a much wider area of the moon than any previous moon probe. As the light of the sun moved slowly across the surface of the moon Lunar Orbiter I was able to take a belt of photographs girdling the moon's entire equator. This includes the far side of which only a few, long-range pictures have been taken by Russian moon probe. The Soviet Lunik X, which is also in orbit around the moon, is not equipped with cameras.

Stores Pictures

Since Lunar Orbiter I can't transmit its pictures of the far side of the moon directly to earth (the moon is in the way) it is equipped to record its pictures on movie film and send them to earth later.

Photographing the dark side of the moon will come later. Lunar Orbiter I is now making a series of photographs of the near side of the moon. These will help NASA scientists in making maps for the Apollo astronauts to use in selecting a landing site on the moon.

Later pictures may include the probes which landed on the moon earlier — the U.S. Surveyor I and the Russian Lunik IX. The Ranger probes which crashed were probably too badly smashed to show in the pictures.

Launching

Lunar Orbiter I was launched from Cape Kennedy by an Atlas Agena at 2:26 p.m., Jacksonville, Ill., time, (the same time used in Florida) by an Atlas Agena. The power for lift-off was supplied by the three main engines of an SLV-3 model of the Atlas.

At about 100 miles up the rocket arched eastward over the Atlantic. Its purpose served, the nose shroud which protects Lunar Orbiter I from the rush of air during lift-off, now dropped away. Soon after that the Atlas first stage, its fuel spent, dropped away also.

Now the Agena D second stage fired for the first time putting the probe into an orbit about 115 miles above the earth. When the missile was lined up properly with the moon it was fired again hurtling Lunar Orbiter I toward the moon at 24,400 miles per hour. The probe then separated from the Agena which was pushed out of the way by small rockets.

Course Corrected.

At first Lunar Orbiter I was on a course that would miss the moon by 5,600 miles. The NASA scientists had expected an error similar to this and planned a midcourse maneuver to take care of the error. As Lunar Orbiter I neared the moon it fired a small rocket mounted on top of it putting itself into an orbit around the moon.

This first orbit ranged from 119 to 1,160 miles above the moon. Lunar Orbiter I took its first test pictures from this orbit then it was signaled from earth to move into a new orbit which would take it within 28 miles of the moon.

Silent World

By John Rankin

Randy opened his eyes and came upright in bed yawning sleepily and felt the soft, summer breeze from the open window on his face. He saw the sun, a fiery red ball, high above the hills to the east. He heard his father rattling milk buckets downstairs and he knew it was time to get up.

Still drowsy, Randy rested his head on the pillow a moment and thought how nice it would be if he didn't have to get up for a little while at least. But somehow the weekends were never long enough, it seemed, and here it was Monday again and he'd have to get all spruced up and hurry off to school.

He waited a little longer then and listened for the calves to bawl and the roosters to crow at the house. But no sounds from the farmyard reached his ears this morning, and only a slight rustle among the leaves in the trees outside his bedroom window broke the quietness of the day. Even the birds that usually greeted the dawn with their carefree songs of summer were strangely silent and Jasper, the family cat, failed to get in his ear-splitting yowls usually heard at this hour.

Randy Puzzled

Puzzled by this weird-like silence, Randy jumped out of bed and ran to the window to peer out over the lawn to the barn in the valley. Dad was waiting at the gate and Major was bringing in the cows from the pasture. But there was something strange about the big collie too. Instead of barking at the cows he merely followed along in a listless sort of way with tail drooping and a woebegone look about him. And even the hungry pigs stirring restlessly about in the barnyard didn't squeal for their breakfast like they usually did.

For a long troubled moment Randy remained at the window trying desperately to grasp the meaning behind the eerie-like feeling closing in on him. A strange sort of feeling that wouldn't go away and that somehow he didn't understand. The sun was shining, the fields were fresh and green, and the small stream back of the barn sparkled crystal-clear in the sunlight and flowed quietly on the same as always.

Dark Secret

But there was a quietness in the air as though the trees were whispering some dark secret. A strange sort of hush settled everywhere and lingered on like an invisible hand of danger lurking in the dark of night.

No buzzing sound came from the bees flitting on the flowers on the lawn—a cardinal perched on the window ledge was silent and Randy turned away and went downstairs.

Getting To Know You

By Christine Hembrough

Hi there fellow teens

In the words of the song, "Getting to know you" is what I hope to do through this column.

Would you like to have a column especially for teens, on this page each Sunday? If so, what would you like for it to include? We hope you will send us your suggestions.

For today, just a bit about me. I'm a teen with fun and problems probably much like yours. Hobbies? I like to sew, knit, Ill.

write, read, listen to classical and pop music, take photographs, collect dolls, sing, dance and act. How about you?

I also like to cook. Maybe we could have an exchange of recipes, and party ideas.

I have a grade school brother and sister, and a cat. I love trying new hairdos for my sister and myself.

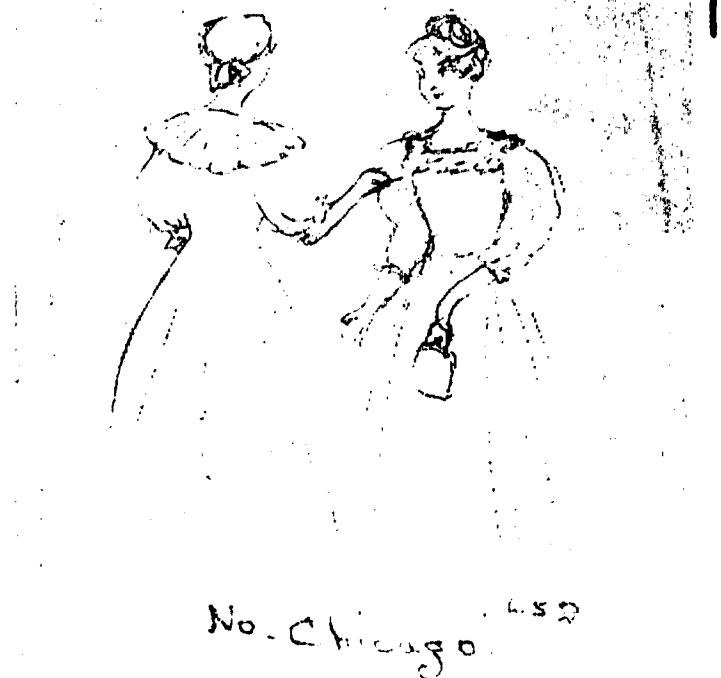

At present I am studying typing, and expect to take shorthand, English and Home Ec this year. We would like to hear what you plan to do in school—and out too.

Spare time? There's not much of that. I seldom watch TV, but I try not to miss "U. N. C. L. E." What's your favorite program?

So long for now. We will be looking for your letters. Just send them to: Teen Time, Junior Page, Jacksonville Journal Courier, Jacksonville, Ill.

Calling All Children

By Mary Pence Claywell

Hear the friendly school rooms calling! Don't look back, my Dears, and pine, Leaves will soon be falling... And winter's skies will follow close. On Autumn's heels so rosy... But welcome cheer, you're sure to find In school rooms, warm and cozy: And as you change from summer togs, And in a different setting, Desire will come... to settle down, I'm sure... with no regretting: Though some may say, "I'd rather play," I hope my reasoning's sound... I feel that "most" are getting tired Of just... loafin' 'round: God bless you everyone, my Dears, And may this school year be The "Very Best," you've ever known, A wish to YOU from me!

Mrs. Tom K. Smith

Smith-Moore

PITTSFIELD — A candlelight ceremony Sunday evening, August 28, at the local First Methodist church united in marriage Miss Deanna Christine Moore and Tom K. Smith. She is the daughter of the Ralph Moores of route three and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Smith, 420 East Adams street.

White gladioli and mums with palms adorned the church altar illuminated by burning tapers in branched candelabra.

The Reverend Walter M. Theobald performed the ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Gary Dunham, was matron of honor. Mrs. Janice Barton was bridesmaid and Miss DeeAnn Fisher and Miss Cheryl Hobkirk, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. Kelle Dunham, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants wore floor length gowns of whipped cream crepe with streamered floral bows. Shoulder length veils were attached to their matching rose and petal headpieces. Each carried an arm ring of pompons made basket fashion. The matron of honor wore pink and carried pink flowers. The bridesmaid was in yellow and carried yellow flowers and the bridesmaids wore mint green and blue respectively and carried corresponding color flowers.

Jerry Claus was best man. Donald Lee Smith, brother of the groom, Gary Dunham, brother-in-law of the bride and Gene Damon, of New Canton, Illinois, were the groomsmen. Ushers were Bill Hobkirk, cousin of the bride and Jack Smith, brother of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore pink lace and peau de soie with matching accessories. The groom's mother was in a blue lace sheath with a silk cummerbund. Her accessories were in white. Each mother wore a corsage of white poms with pink ribbons.

At the reception held in Orr Hall Miss Peggy McComber, Miss Carol Colver, Miss Patty Lynn Haun, Miss Eileen Ellis, Miss Charlotte Fudge, Miss Roxi Fudge, Mrs. Bill Moody, Mrs. Patti Struble and Miss Sandra Spellman assisted.

Upon returning from a honeymoon to the Ozarks the couple will reside at 123 1/2 North Madison street here.

The bride graduated from Pittsfield High School in 1964 and attended Gem City Business College in Quincy. She is employed at Farmers State Bank here. The groom, a 1960 graduate of the same high school, also attended the Quincy college and is employed by General Telephone Company here.

STAY CRISP AND FRESH

Crisp... always fresh. Make your leisure attractive with washable robes or at home dresses trimmed in eyelet, lace or smocking. Keep the aura of romanticism alive by dressing at home as carefully as you would for outside your home.

EYE EXPERIMENT

Have fun and be adventurous on a free-wheeling fashion spree of color. An intriguing palette of four brush-on shades to stroke across your eyelids invites experimentation with color and the contouring of eyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Lee Dennis

Dennis-Norton

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Lee Dennis, who were married in Kewanee on July thirty-first are making their home at 411 Pennsylvania street in Peoria since returning from a wedding trip in Eastern States and Washington, D.C.

She is the former Joyce Ann Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Norton of Kewanee and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Dennis, 314 Fulton street, Jacksonville.

Miss Sharon Dennis and Stephen Dennis, sister and brother of the groom, attended the couple. Two other brothers, Michael and Kenneth Dennis, seated guests.

The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie with pearl adornment. The chapel train fell from the shoulder line and was appliqued with Alencon lace. A fluted peau headdress with pearl trim held her blusher veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white lilies with ivy.

Miss Sharon Dennis wore yellow silk linen lined with taffeta. She wore a matching pillbox headpiece and carried a bouquet of spider lilies with greenery.

The mother of the bride wore pink brocade with matching accessories and the groom's mother was in a floral chiffon with corresponding accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. The Rev. J. E. Plumberg officiated for the ceremony at the Evangelical Convent church. Mrs. Plumberg was in charge of arrangements for the reception.

White roses and lily of the valley were used at the candlelighted altar. Joan Helmer was at the organ for the nuptial prelude.

Mrs. Dennis graduated from Kewanee High School and the Moline Public Hospital School of Nursing. She is on the staff of nursing at Peoria State Hospital. The groom attended Jacksonville High School and recently received his discharge from the U.S. Marine Corps. He is employed by Caterpillar at Peoria.

Ann Stapleton Bride Yesterday In Church Rites

NEW BERLIN — Miss Ann Jeannette Stapleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Stapleton of Chatham, became the bride of Captain Thomas Earl Merritt of Franklinton, North Carolina, in a double ring ceremony Saturday morning, September 3.

The bride's cousin, Rev. Kevin Sullivan of Decatur, received the vows in the Sacred Heart of St. Mary church, New Berlin, with Msgr. John McGrath, pastor of St. Mary's, and Msgr. Casimir Toliusus, pastor of St. Joseph's church of Chatham, in attendance.

The groom is with the Army Medical Corps, United States Army. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roney Merritt, Franklinton, N.C.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowning in a sheath of crepe with Chantilly lace bodice and elbow length sleeves. A Watteau lace train fell from the shoulders. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a tiny pillbox of lace, encrusted with pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses.

The bride's sister, Betty, wife of James A. Casey of Metairie, La., was her only attendant. She wore a peacock blue crepe sheath with satin bodice. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a satin bow. Her bouquet was a cascade of red roses.

The groom selected Major H. G. Paul of Philadelphia, Pa., as best man. Ushers were Robert L. Stapleton, brother of the bride, of Lincoln, Illinois, and James A. Casey, Metairie, La. Jack Duffy of Springfield was

Roodhouse Pair Married 30 Years

ROODHOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Adams Sr. quietly observed their 30th wedding anniversary on Aug. 26 with dinner at the Blackhawk in Jacksonville.

They are the parents of six children and have seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Hattie Lewis and her sister, Mrs. Charles Peterson, St. Louis, Mo., visited recently for several days with the former's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lewis, Kansas City, Mo. En route home Mrs. Lewis visited her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Harp, and family in Glendale, Mo. The Harps brought Mrs. Lewis home over the weekend.

Mrs. W. J. Rees, Jr., has returned from Jacksonville, where she spent several days with her grandsons while her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, attended school meetings prior to the opening of the Jacksonville schools where both are employed.

BATH ADDITIVE

Mix the juice of two lemons—or limes—with two capfuls of baby oil and add it to bath water. You'll emerge baby-smooth, cool and faintly surrounded by the fresh aroma of citrus.

HANDS MEASURE UP?

Groomed hands are pretty hands. Their size, their shape and the color of your nail polish have little to do with it. What counts is how clean, smooth and neatly manicured your hands are.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Keith Coultas

Coultas-Brown

WINCHESTER — Miss Barbara Lucille Brown of Winchester and Ronald Keith Coultas of Riggston were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, August fourteenth, at the local First Christian church.

NICHOLS PARK LADIES DAY GOLF NEWS

Sad but true, we wound up Ladies Day for this season last Tuesday. The play for the day was "Distraction Day", and believe me, it certainly was! However, Helen Little would be the best judge for this.

The first flight winners were: Low gross, Fran Chumley; low net, Alpha Witham.

Second flight, Lucille Eberhardt. Low putts, Evelyn Cruzan and the most heckled, Helen Little.

Plans have now been made for our annual golf banquet, which will be held Monday, September 26th, 6:30 p.m. at the Blackhawk restaurant. Since there will be no more organized Ladies Day we would appreciate if you plan to attend, contact either, Marge Howard, phone 3-2691 or Alpha Witham, phone 5-7581, before September 20th.

We sincerely hope to see all of you at the banquet, and I am sure you will find it entertaining, and most of all fun!

For those of you who can't attend, the committee thanks you, and everyone who made Ladies Day a success this past season. We have all enjoyed playing on Ladies Day, meeting new golfers, and certainly proud to have gained new friends. Come back next summer and be sure to come to the banquet.

Until then... golfing is better than dieting, and much more fun!

Phyllis T. Homer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Homer of Beardstown, became the bride of Dr. Robert H. Shaw Sunday afternoon, July 31 at the First Southern Baptist Church in Beardstown. Dr. Shaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Shaw of White Hall.

The Reverend Arnold Hoffman, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli. Miss Janice Blakeman was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a French designed gown of Chantilace and taffeta. Her cutaway overskirt fell into a chapel train. Her double veil of illusion fell from a jeweled crown and she carried a cascade of white roses atop her white Bible.

Miss Norma Jean Krohe, bridesmaid, was attired in light blue embossed peau de soie floor length gown and matching headpiece and carried a nosegay of white sweetheart roses.

Dr. Don Rhodes of La Belle, Mo. was best man. Ushers were Don Horner and Dr. Curt Van Geison.

The bride's mother wore a blue dacon dress with beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother was in white jersey with navy blue accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations. Both grandmothers also wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church basement. Assisting were Mrs. Kenneth Medlock, Mrs. Kelly Campbell and Mrs. Shirley Myers.

After a wedding trip to Chicago the newlyweds are at home east of White Hall where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

The beautiful tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Paul B. Smith and decorated in the bride's chosen color of yellow. Mrs. Larry Ragsdale, sister of the groom served coffee. Miss Linda Gregory, cousin of the bride presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Dick Coon, a friend of the bride served the cake.

Little Miss Melissa Coon presented each guest with a little bag of rice.

Mrs. Frederick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bridgman and is a graduate of Bluffs High School and Southern Illinois University.

She will teach Spanish in the Bergen High School in Peoria this year. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Haggard, a graduate of Bluffs High School and Bradley University at Peoria. He is taking graduate work at Bradley this winter.

They will reside in Peoria following a short honeymoon.

There can be no real criticism of West's queen of spades lead against the no-trump slam. Some experts would open the jack or ten for deceptive purposes but they would all open one of the high spades as the lead least likely to cost a trick. Strangely enough the spade is the only lead that allows South to make his contract.

South wins the spade lead and notes that he has 13 top tricks if diamonds and clubs both break and 12 top tricks if just one suit breaks. South also notes all sorts of squeeze possibilities but that no squeeze will work if East is long in both minor suits since East can discard in back of dummy. South sees no reason not to try a minor suit so he goes after clubs. West discards a low heart on the third club so South decides to play hearts just to see what will happen. Everyone follows to three hearts and now South tries diamonds. This time West discards a low spade on the third diamond.

South is in dummy at this point and everyone is down to three cards. If South had bothered to count carefully he knows that West started with exactly four hearts, two diamonds and two clubs. By simple subtraction his last three cards are all spades. East's last three cards are also known to be one spade, one club and one diamond.

South leads the spade from dummy. If East produces the ten or jack South will take his high spade and split the last two tricks with West. When East shows up with a low spade South simply plays the eight spot. West must win and give South the last two tricks in spades.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West North East South
1 ♦ 1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠

You, South, hold:
♠ K 6 5 ♥ K 10 3 ♦ A 3 2 ♣ Q 8 7 6

What do you do now?
A—Redouble. You have a good hand and practically all the high cards not shown by the two previous bids.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You redouble. West and North pass. East bids one spade. What do you do?

Carrollton Pastor Plans Retirement

CARROLLTON—The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Michael Enright, pastor of St. John's Catholic church since 1938, is retiring. He will leave from New York City September 30 for Dalkey, Ireland, the land of his birth, where he will live in a Home for the Aged.

Monsignor Enright was born in Ireland and studied for the priesthood at the All Hallows Seminary at Dublin, Ireland for six years. He was sent to the United States in 1910 and held his first pastorate in Springfield, Ill. After five years in Springfield he went to Hardin, Ill., where he spent seven years. He spent 14½ years at the

Farewell For Postal Employee

Employees of the Jacksonville Post Office hosted a farewell party Aug. 18th at the American Legion Home honoring Richard D. Minor, substitute employee the past five years. Minor is now employed at the Post Office in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Greenfield Catholic church before coming here.

While residing in the states Monsignor Enright has made thirteen trips to Ireland and will return this time to spend the remainder of his life near his dearest relatives, three sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. Bird White in Dun Laoghaire, Ireland; Mrs. Michael Dore in New Castle West, Ireland and Mrs. Margaret Hennehan in Listowel, Ireland. The one brother is making his home in Brighton, England.

The Rev. Vincent Worland, assistant pastor, will assume parish duties until a new pastor is appointed by Bishop O'Connor of Springfield.

A NATION AT WORK

America's labor force is as vast and varied as the nation itself. Builders, bankers, ballplayers, farmers, fishermen, factory workers, miners, ministers, mailmen, policemen, politicians, presidents, salesmen, scientists, secretaries — nearly every letter of the alphabet could contribute to the long list of occupations. Together they spell the initiative and know-how with which the fabric of the nation's strength is woven. In saluting all these occupations on Labor Day, working Americans—more than 75 million strong—salute themselves.

How Chicken, Alaska, Avoided Undying Fame

By WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Reporters tracking the forest fires which recently raged across southeastern Alaska had a tough time date-lining their copy. They finally settled on Chicken, Alaska, a small collection of frame buildings dating back to the Klondike gold rush.

Though there is some doubt that Chicken is a town — no cartographer has ever seen fit to put it on a map — it does have a post office, which almost gained it a small bit of fame in 1949.

Having decided on a stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the poultry industry, the Post Office Department settled on Chicken as the most appropriate place to issue it.

An inspector was sent up from Seattle to make the necessary preparations. After almost failing to find Chicken, he discovered that the post office consisted of a few feet of counter space at the back of a general store. On the counter was a box of stamps, a few money order forms and the postmark.

The inspector explained to the incredulous postmaster-storekeeper that great things were about to happen to Chicken. Thousands of requests for first-day cancellations would soon be pouring in.

Each envelope, he explained, should be carefully postmarked so the cancellation would be perfectly straight and not low enough to deface the stamp.

When he finished, the postmaster picked up a gunny sack, dropped the stamp box, the money order forms and the postmark into it, handed it to the inspector and said: "Here's your post office. I quit."

The poultry stamp was finally issued from New Haven, Conn.

THE NATIONAL Rifle Association, spearhead of the lobby which is fighting the administration's firearms control bill, is still carrying advertisements in its monthly magazine for the same type of weapon which was used to assassinate John F. Kennedy.

Though advertised as a "light-weight Tami Carbine," it is identical to the Carcano rifle which Lee Oswald bought through the mails under an assumed name.

THE SIERRA CLUB, which has spent thousands of dollars to defeat the two Grand Canyon dams that are part of the Central Arizona Project, once endorsed the more controversial of the two. In 1949, the club's board of directors unanimously approved a resolution endorsing Bridge (now called Hualapai) Canyon Dam. The proposed dam would have backed water much farther into the national park than the one now being considered by Congress.

COMPUTERS are being used in increasing numbers to keep track of voters in large metropolitan areas. In New York City, officials are now blaming the machines for this registration goof.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ziesk of Queens received notice that they were registered to vote in separate districts. Commented Ziesk:

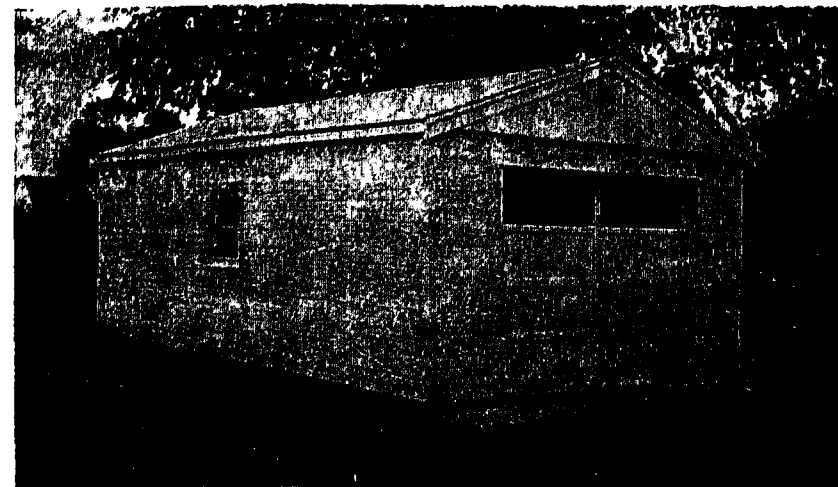

"It seems that they've gerrymandered my bedroom, as we have twin beds."

ISD Little But Has Experience

By BUFORD GREEN

Since coach Jim Bonds took over the football reins at the west side Illinois School for the Deaf nine years ago, the Tigers have been nobody's patsies, and fellow conference schools refuse to believe this season will be any different despite what on paper looks like an off year.

Never a tremendously large team, ISD appears this campaign to be perhaps the smallest in recent years. The Tigers have a creditable number of lettermen back from last season's 5-3-1 campaign, 4-1-1 in the PMSC Conference. Observers had picked ISD to be down last year.

When Bonds says this year's club will be "small but slow," one has to agree they are little. Only two players of the 25 invited out for early practice scaled at over 180 pounds. The Tigers may pick up some size when an expected 25 more report out when school opens.

The Tigers have enough of an experienced nucleus to build a small but solid line, and appear strong in the backfield. Listed among backfield returnees are a pair of quarterbacks and two fullbacks who split regular duty last campaign.

In all, nine lettermen are back, including four in the line and five in the backfield.

Line returnees, all regulars, will be the lightest team we've seen in the field since I've been here. We have some good boys on the team. Ron Nuzzo for instance. He's tougher than nails. I just wished he weighed 200 pounds. We're two deep at quarterback and fullback, and I don't see any problems.

Bonds quickly picks Tropia as the team to beat in the PMSC this season.

Promising Backfield
The backfield looks especially promising according to experience. Terry Storey, a 5-10 150 pound junior, and Harry Bloomgren, a 5-9 150 pound senior, alternated at the regular quarterback spot last campaign.

Mike Wassico, a 180 pound sophomore, and Ronald Dodd, a 170 pound senior, are both veteran fullbacks, sharing the backfield. Lloyd Ballinger, a 5-10 150 pound junior end and Billy Fox, a 5-10 160 pound junior center, Bill Baxter, whom Bonds has praised in practice thus far, and Bill Platt, who lettered two years in Florida.

"We are definitely hurting for depth," says Bonds. "This will be the lightest team we've put on the field since I've been here. We have some good boys on the team. Ron Nuzzo for instance. He's tougher than nails. I just wished he weighed 200 pounds. We're two deep at quarterback and fullback, and I don't see any problems."

In 12 Innings Cepeda, Shannon Spark 6-5 Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda doubled with one out in the 12th inning and scored on Mike Shannon's single, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-5 victory over San Francisco Friday night that dropped the Giants into second place in the National League.

The loss tumbled the Giants one game behind the Pittsburgh Pirates, who beat Chicago 7-3.

The Giants struck for four runs in the seventh, the last on Willie Mays' double, for a 5-4 lead but the Cardinals tied it in the eighth on a walk, Dal Maxvill's single and an error by shortstop Tito Fuentes.

Tigers Take Two Games From Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mickey Stanley scored the tie-breaking run on a force-play grounder in the 10th inning and Don Wert followed with a run-scoring single, giving the Detroit Tigers a 7-5 victory over Cleveland and a sweep of their doubleheader Friday night.

The Tigers took the opener 4-2 on Willie Horton's three-run homer and the four-hit pitching of Denny McLain.

Stanley started the Tigers' winning rally in the nightcap with a one-out single in the 10th and raced to third on Dick McLain's single. Jim Northrup, pinch hitting for pitcher Fred Gladding, grounded into a force at second but Stanley scored on the play and when Larry Brown's relay to first was wild, Northrup went all the way to third.

Wert then came through with his single to left, scoring Northrup.

Horton hit his 23rd homer off Indian starter Gary Bell, 13-11, in the sixth inning after Norm Cash and Gates Brown had singled. Horton scored again in the ninth when he singled and came in on Don Wert's double.

McLain, 17-11, gave up two solo homers for the Cleveland runs. "Max Alvis hit his 14th homer in the sixth and Duke Sims hit his sixth in the eighth inning."

Interceptions
Carry Raiders
Past Dolphins

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Oakland Raiders had to steal their old teammate, Dick Wood, blind Friday night to beat the amazing young Miami Dolphins 23-14 in the kickoff game of the American Football League season.

Howie Williams and Dave Grayson each snagged two of Wood's passes in the second period and the Raiders turned the first two thirds into 10 points in a three-minute span.

Except for this wholesale thievery against Wood, who was claimed by the Dolphins from Oakland in the AFL expansion draft, the new Miami team may have pulled off a real shocker by winning its first time out in league combat.

Joe Auer, a Miami boy who left the Los Angeles Rams to come home and join the Dolphins, gave Oakland's 17-point favorites a warning that a rough night was ahead when he raced 95 yards to a touchdown with the opening kickoff.

It was anybody's ball game until near the end, when Tom Fears nailed Tom Mitchell with the clincher, a 16-yard scoring pass.

CHICAGO (AP) — Baltimore reliever Stu Miller hit two men with pitches in the 11th inning, forcing in the winning run and Chicago beat the league-leading Orioles 9-8 Friday night.

Miller hit Tommie Agee, forcing in Tom McCraw who had doubled and moved to third when Don Buford was given an intentional walk and Miller hit Al Weiss with a pitch.

It was the sixth loss in seven games for the Orioles.

The Orioles tied the game with two runs in the ninth when Boog Powell singled to center, scoring Jim Palmer, who was running for Charley Lau.

REDSKINS REJECT TRADE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins have rejected a proposed National Football League trade in which they would have obtained veteran halfback Lenny Moore from the Baltimore Colts.

Redskins Coach Otto Graham said Friday that Washington would have acquired Moore plus fullback Tony Loric for Redskins' halfback Charley Taylor.

Graham explained that he did not make the deal because Moore, a five-time All-Pro selection, told him that he would retire as a player after the 1966 season.

RUSHVILLE GOLF WINNERS
RUSHVILLE — The annual dinner and play off of the top two place in the Mens Wednesday night Twilight Golf League was held Wednesday night.

A playoff was held during the past week to determine the first and second place winners of the second half. The team of Doc's Duffers was the victors over Marshall's Met.

WATKINS GLEN in upstate New York used to be the scene of only the European type of road-racing. But today Grand National (NASCAR) racing on road tracks, instead of oval, is becoming popular to fans of both types of racing.

Stock Cars Put Speed On Road

(Last in a Series)
By DAVE BURGIN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. — (NEA) — Ten years ago, the sight of 40 ponderous Grand National stock cars touring the beautiful 2.3-mile road course here would have sickened sports car fans.

"I never thought I'd see the day," said John Loving, a Porsche owner and novice driver from Washington, D.C., "when road racing would let oval track farm boys with their hot Detroit barges come to Watkins Glen."

Today stock car road racing is the fastest growing type of auto racing in the country and people like John Loving are avid supporters.

His success has virtually wiped out all the prejudices that once existed between the two breeds.

"All the stock and Indy drivers do is turn left and gun it," the sports car people would say, turning up their noses. "Any fool can do that."

The southern-dominated world of stock car racing and midwestern-oriented sprint and midget car racing circuits, meanwhile, delighted in calling sports car people "stokers and brokers" — stoker meaning slow and broker meaning poor little rich boy.

Stock car racing on road tracks met with mixed reaction nationally when it was introduced six years ago. But the idea was an immediate hit at Riverside in California, a state in which all brands of racing flourish.

Last January at Riverside, the Motor Trend 500 for late model stocks drew 80,000. The race's promoters now predict it will outdraw the Rose Bowl game within two or three years, making it California's largest annual sports event.

Three years ago, Trenton, N.J., Speedway promoter Sam Nunn brought in Jimmy Clark and Dan Gurney, who were gods to sports car lovers, to drive Indy cars at Trenton.

"Th five or six thousand sports car fans who showed up to see Clark and Gurney were sold when they saw our kind of racing live," Nunn said.

Final prejudices were struck down in nearly all sections of the country when Grand Prix heroes Clark and Graham Hill won the Indianapolis 500 back-to-back and oval track darlings like A. J. Foyt began to show well in road races abroad.

"Now," said National Association of Stock Car Racing (NASCAR) president Bill France, "it's a proven thing that a good driver is a good driver no matter what kind of track he's on."

The "integration" of auto racing, however, has not solved all of the sport's immense organizational problems.

Sanctioning bodies, such as NASCAR and the United States Auto Club (USAC) and the various sports car clubs, still squabble from time to time.

Drivers jump circuits. Factories dump millions into racing for one year then pull out the next. Promoters complain that competition is too concentrated, creating situations like Chicago's where six tracks in 20 races a week during the season.

From some corners of racing come pleas for a czar to oversee all of racing — everything from drags to go-karting.

Right now, the closest thing to a czar in racing is Bill France. He is the man who organized NASCAR and brought order and dignity to stock car racing. But France and others in the administrative end of racing see no need for an over-all director, such as baseball or even how many other sports can say that?

"Besides, we've already got a czar — the people who pay their money. They demand good competition and action and, in automobile racing, that's what they get."

Two LA Pitchers Stop Reds 6-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Claude Osteen and Bob Miller combined for a three-hitter and Ron Fairly drove in three runs, two on a first-inning homer, as the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed the Cincinnati Reds 6-1 Friday night.

Osteen, who yielded the three Cincinnati hits before he was forced to leave after six innings with a pulled groin muscle, picked up his 14th victory against 11 defeats.

Fairly hit his 10th homer after Willie Davis' single in the first, starting the Reds' Jim Maloney on the way to his fifth loss against 14 victories. Maloney had won five in a row.

The Dodgers scored in the second on Wes Parker's bases-loaded sacrifice fly, and in the third on a sacrifice fly by John Roseboro.

Wright Claims
Ladies Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Power-hitting Mickey Wright carved out a brilliant five-under-par 67 Friday and added another tournament title to an illustrious career with a four-stroke victory in the first Ladies World Series of Golf.

The 31-year-old blond from Dallas, Tex., rated perhaps the greatest woman golfer of all-time, won the big pot of 100,000 with a 36-hole score of 136, eight under par on the 6,300-yard Springfield Country Club course.

Miss Wright, who has won more than $200,000 in 11 years as a pro and has topped more tournaments than any other female swinger, methodically wore down her five rivals in the field.

She consistently outdistanced the others with her booming tee shots, ringing up seven birdies, four coming on par-five holes.

The former Californian birdied the seventh hole to wrest the lead from Carol Mann of Towson, Md., and Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth, Tex., and never was headed.

"We can only keep and improve the tracks we have," said one observer.

The system today provides a steady flow of new talent. Franchising might adversely affect that flow.

Says France, "In truth, racing is still in its infancy. I, for one, would not like to be the one to organize something during a boom. Any system devised would probably be old before it was put into effect."

After a race at Trenton recently, Nunn sat back and pondered the question of a racing czar.

"We had 39 million people paying to see races in this country last year. We're the second biggest spectator sport in the country now. We've never had a scandal in racing or even how many other sports can say that?"

"Besides, we've already got a czar — the people who pay their money. They demand good competition and action and, in automobile racing, that's what they get."

STEELERS CLAIM
PACK CASTOFF

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers have claimed Eli Strands, an offensive tackle placed on waivers earlier this week by the Green Bay Packers, defending National Football League champions.

A Packers spokesman said Friday that Strands' departure reduced the club roster to the 43 players permitted under league rules at this time. Three more must be cut by next Tuesday.
